NEVER HEARD HIM CALLED "LEEDS"

Defense Begins Recriminations Against Banker at Resumption of Divorce Suit.

By the Associated Press.
POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., July 13.—Identification of James A. Stillman's photograph as that of the man she had seen in the apartment of Mrs. Florence H. Leeds, former Broadway show girl, was understood to have been made today by Mrs. V. Hill, a nurse employed by Mrs. Leeds after the birth of Jay Ward Leeds in September, 1918.

The nurse was the second witness for Mrs. Anne U. Stillman, who began her recriminations against Stillman when their divorce case was renewed today before Referee Gleason. Mrs. Leeds' apartment was on Eighth-street, New York, a short distance off Fifth avenue.

Mrs. Hill, it was said, declared she had never heard the man addressed either as Stillman or Leeds while in the apartment.

The first witness for the defense was Dr. James Oglivie of New York. He testified to being present at the birth of the boy and identifying the photograph of Mrs. Leeds as the mother. It was said. He could not identify Stillman's photograph as that of the father, explaining that he had no distinct recollection of the appearance of "Mr. Leeds." It was reported.

The plaintiff rested his case today, after long argument over past testimony and evidence, during which it was said Referee Daniel J. Gleason had refused to admit questions which were asked of Stillman during redirect examination at a previous hearing. These questions were described as leaving the inference that the banker would have been willing to let Mrs. Stillman bring the suit for divorce had it been possible in that way to test the legitimacy of her youngest son, Guy Stillman.

The referee also was reported to have stricken out of the record today certain fragments of testimony given by Dr. Hugh L. Russell, Buffalo osteopath, who treated Mrs. Stillman before Guy's birth. This testimony, it was said, regarded a trip Mrs. Stillman made to Boston to consult another doctor. Previously, other testimony by the osteopath had been expunged.

FARMERS SAY PRODUCTION COST IS HIGHER THAN YEAR AGO

Thirty-Three Per Cent Increase Reported at Meeting Held to Get Facts for Congress.

Facts to be presented at the congressional inquiry in agricultural conditions were given by representatives of the St. Louis County Farm Bureau at a meeting yesterday in the offices of the St. Louis County Farm Bureau at Clayton. Similar meetings are being held by farm agents in all parts of the county.

Farmers who were examined said that the cost of production was 33 per cent greater than a year ago, but would be no greater than four years ago if the crops were as large.

The increase in production cost, it was pointed out, is due to poor crops and lower prices.

The price paid to the farmer for wheat today is $1 to $1.20, a last year was about $2.80. Last year the average crop in the county was 13 bushels to the acre, this year it is not more than 10. Farmers testified that they bought for 10 cents this year a 16-ounce loaf of bread, and last year a 14-ounce loaf. Dairy feed was sold to be 50 per cent cheaper. Butter sold for 10 cents a pound for 75 cents a pound, rose sells for 30 cents. Cattle are 50 per cent lower. Farm labor was said to be 25 per cent cheaper, and more efficient.

PLACING WIRES UNDERGROUND TO BE RESUMED IN 1922

Work Suspended During War to Be Continued at Rate of Four Miles a Year.

The Board of Public Service today approved the recommendation of Director Hooke of the Department of Public Utilities that the program of placing wires underground, at the rate of about four miles a year, should be resumed in 1922. It was suspended through the war period, an ordinance being passed in 1918 which stated that it should be taken up in the calendar year after the declaration of peace.

The rate where the wires are to be buried in 1922 are Page boulevard, from Whittier street to Pendleton avenue and from Newstead avenue to Taylor avenue; King's highway, from Easton avenue to Natural Bridge avenue; West Pine boulevard, Shenandoah avenue and De Tonty street, from Grand avenue to Spring avenue, and De Tonty from Klemm street to Tower Grove avenue; Monmouth avenue, from Grand to King's highway, and De Baliviere avenue from Delmar boulevard to Lindell boulevard.

Annual programs have been laid out for resuming work through 1927, and the wire-using companies will be notified of them. Director Hooke said he believed the companies would be ready to go ahead with the work, which will not be so expensive as it would have been a year ago.

MAN GIVEN COAT OF CRUDE OIL AND COTTON AT ENID, OK.

Wealthy Real Estate Dealer Removed to Secluded Spot and Beaten by Masked Men.

ENID, Ok., July 13.—Walter Billings, wealthy real estate dealer and theater owner, was taken here last night, conveyed to a secluded spot several miles from town and whipped and given a coating of crude oil and cotton by a party of masked men. He was then returned to town and set free, clad only in his trousers.

Billings reported the affair immediately to the police, but efforts to identify his assailants have failed. The police said alleged domestic difficulties between Billings' family and probably inspired the attack on him.

GENERAL MITCHELL LEADS THE ATTACK

By the Associated Press.
NEWPORT NEWS, July 13.—The German destroyer G-102 was sunk at 10:40 today by army bombing planes from Langley Field.

The destroyer, anchored 60 miles off the Virginia Capes, was sent down by bombs rained down from the Martin bombers which led the attack, reports to Langley Field said. The big De Havilland planes did not get a chance at the target. No probability of locating the target was involved.

Between 55 and 60 planes, 52 of them army machines from Langley Field and the remainder naval seaplanes, took part in the attack. Six bombing planes of the smaller type reported many direct hits. They soared over the target four times in formation, volleying bombs at the doomed ship.

This is the first time that land machines have operated over water so far from their base, it was said.

Nearly two hours after the return of the bombing expedition two airplane Martin bombers and a scout plane, were missing from the station at 1 o'clock. Destroyers and airplanes are searching for them. Another German submarine was forced to land and two scout planes made forced landings when their gas gave out, but made land safely.

The Martin bomber was reported to have flown inside the capes, but officials at Langley Field said it did not touch the water, and was safely back at the field, engine trouble having prevented completion of the flight.

MAN SENTENCED TO HANG FOR ATTACK ON GIRL

Lexington, Ky., Restaurant Owner Condemned Under Law Designed to Stop Lynchings.

By the Associated Press.
LEXINGTON, Ky., July 13.—Louis Kokas, a restaurant owner, today was sentenced to be hanged here by a jury in Circuit Court for an attack on a 9-year-old girl. The verdict was the first of its kind under a State law passed in 1920 providing hanging in the county in which the crime was committed instead of electrocution, the method by which murderers are executed.

It was the first time, so far as the oldest old-timer could remember, that a youngster had a hearing before a congressional committee.

Members of the House committee concerned with the affairs of the District of Columbia heard 15-year-old Jimmie Bradley of Washington tell why the children were afraid to go to school.

Armed with letters of approval from President Harding, Gen. Pershing and many other notables, Jimmie, who was foreman of the John Burroughs Club jury which recently decided the White House owls might live, told the committee that the study of birds and trees and animals filled "any regular fellow with a sense of justice."

5000 MARKS FOR FIRST U. S. CREW TO SINK JAPANESE SHIP

Prize Provided for in Will of Former Paterson (N. J.) Engineer in Event of War Between Nations.

By the Associated Press.
PATTERSON, N. J., July 13.—The first American crew to capture or sink a Japanese warship in event of war between the United States and Japan would receive a prize of 5000 German marks by the will of Charles O. H. Fritzsche, former Paterson engineer, made public today. It was received here from Dresden, Germany, where Fritzsche died Jan. 1. The will, made April 19, 1910, creates a 5000 mark trust fund, the income of which is to go to buy rifles for the poor of Paterson, unless this country gets into war with Japan. Then the principal is to go for the prize.

Edward R. Weiss, legal adviser of Fritzsche, said that the engineer had been an American citizen for many years, and that during the war his property had been seized by the Alien Property Custodian.

CONGRESSMEN HEAR 'JUST A KID' IN APPEAL FOR APPROPRIATION

Boy, 15, Tells Why Children Want Provision Made So Nature Study in Schools Can Continue.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 13.—Congressmen, deep in discussions involving millions and filled with the views of wisecracks, paused for a moment today to hear what "just a kid" had to say about it.

Members of the House committee concerned with the affairs of the District of Columbia heard 15-year-old Jimmie Bradley of Washington tell why the children were afraid to go to school.

MRS. KABER FALLS ON THE FLOOR AND SCREAMS IN TRIAL

Defendant in Murder Case
Carried Out Struggling
After Causing Panic
Among Women Spectators

COURT ADJOURNED TWICE IN DAY

Widow Taken Out Second
Time When She Faints
After Session Is Resumed
in Afternoon.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CLEVELAND, O., July 13.—Eva Catherine Kaber's nerve broke today. Screaming and struggling, the widow accused of the murder of her husband threw her head back as her brother, Charles Brickel, started testifying this morning, then fell forward on the floor in a frenzy. Her body twisting and twitching, her hands clawing madly, it took the efforts of several bailiffs to cope with the accused woman. Women murder-trial fans, who had crowded the court as for a catch-penny amusement day when they were promised Mrs. Kaber would bare her own story of her married life with Dan Kaber in all its unhappy details, fought for the exits of the packed room as the widow's screams rang through the courtroom and corridors.

Carried Out of Courtroom. "Keep your seats," Judge Maurice Beron ordered above the uproar as his bailiffs fought their way through the crowd with their burden of a cowering, weeping woman. Court was recessed when it was seen Mrs. Kaber would not quickly recover from the shock of the trial.

Physicians rushed to her aid. The physicians made no statement regarding the nature of the attack except to say that it probably was simply an emotional outburst brought on by the strain under which the woman labored. It was their opinion that her nerves had given out after several days' iron-nerved composure in court.

Mrs. Kaber fainted again shortly after court recessed this afternoon. Judge Beron again ordered a recess until Mrs. Kaber was able to continue in the trial. Her brother, Charles Brickel, had just left the witness stand after admitting on cross-examination that he had served time in a Federal correctional school for implication in a postal robbery.

After waiting for some time to see if Mrs. Kaber's condition would permit resumption of the trial and learning that it would not, Judge Beron adjourned court until tomorrow morning.

The dramatic scene this morning came when Assistant County Prosecutor Cassidy on cross-examination of her brother, asked him if he did not know that his mother, Mrs. Mary Brickel, had admitted that she tried to burn the Kaber home.

"No, she didn't do it," replied Mrs. Kaber then began to scream. On direct examination her father, John W. Brickel, had testified that he believed Mrs. Kaber to be insane. He said she would war at the mouth and her eyes would become glassy on dark days.

Immediately on entering court this morning preparatory to testifying in her own behalf Mrs. Kaber learned her head on the table and cried; almost, she did not even raise her head.

Court Adjourned. Judge Beron at 10:15 adjourned court until 1:15 this afternoon in order to give Mrs. Kaber a rest. She told him at that time that she was feeling fairly well and that she would return to the courtroom if a not expert that she will testify until late today.

Should Mrs. Kaber be unable to take the stand, little remains for the defense except to call the alienists and claim the case.

Mrs. Kaber's testimony and that of alienists as to her mental condition was expected to complete the defense case today. Mrs. Kabers counsel would not indicate how many alienists would be called to testify.

Mrs. Kaber is expected to testify concerning her husband's alleged "nasty habits" and admit that she hired persons to "beat up" Kaber and that it would cure him of those alleged habits. Neither the State nor defense has yet introduced testimony bearing upon this subject.

Other than assertions by some of the State witnesses that Mrs. Kaber had said she wanted her husband beaten up because of them.

The trial came to a sudden halt yesterday afternoon when defense attorneys asked for a recess.

MIDDLE WESTERN AMERICA SWELTERS IN HEAT WAVE; BELGIAN TOWNS SUFFER

Points in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa Report Temperatures Ranging Above 100—Industry Suspended at Some Places.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 13.—The unvarying forecast, "Continued warm," went out today to a Central West broiling in a heat wave which has been almost unbroken for three weeks. Temperatures in scores of cities ranged from 85 to 105 degrees, and in some of them a good deal of the industry was suspended until showers or cooling winds sweep away the humid oppressiveness.

Baking streets in downtown Chicago threatened more heat prostrations today, although the upper reaches of office buildings and apartments gained a respite from light breezes straight off Lake Michigan. Reports from the vacation havens of Wisconsin and Minnesota indicated little joy for tourists who stayed in the cities. Green Bay alone announcing that a shower had brought temperatures down from 99 to 74. At Racine it was 94, Madison 85, Janesville and Delavan Lake 100, Footville 106 and Milwaukee 84.

Iowa cities found no surcease of the heat from local showers last night. Cedar Rapids reported 103 yesterday and 88 this morning. Dubuque 90 and 85, Clinton 93 yesterday, Ottumwa 95; average daily, Muscatine, Waterloo and Mason City, around 100, and Davenport 101 late yesterday.

LA CROSSE, Wis., July 13.—With a temperature of 89 at 7 o'clock this morning, practically all outside work is suspended here until the hot waves pass. Farmers are tilling their fields by moonlight.

OSHKOSH, Wis., July 13.—Thermometers registered 100 degrees in the shade yesterday, and although there was a light shower early this morning the temperature was 84 in the shade at 8 a. m.

SUSPECT IN KILLING OF TWO ST. LOUIS DETECTIVES HELD

Ex-Convict Sought by Police Since October in Murder of Moller and Anslin Is Found in Pontiac, Ill.

AMATEUR DETECTIVE GIVES POLICE CLEW

Shoe Store Employee Calls Attention of Police Here to Two Prisoners There by Sending Fingerprints.

A prisoner held by the police of Pontiac, Ill., is believed by the St. Louis police, from descriptions and fingerprints, to be Oscar Olsen, former convict, who has been sought since last October, in the belief that he was one of the two men who killed City Detectives William A. Moller and Preston B. Anslin, in front of 3868 Junata street, the night of Oct. 16.

The man held in Pontiac was brought to the attention of the St. Louis police through the work of L. A. Norlund, an employee in a Pontiac shoe store, who is an amateur collector and student of fingerprints, after the fashion of Mark Twain's "Fudd'n'head Wilson."

Two men were arrested in Odell, Ill., near Pontiac, a few days ago, on a charge of stealing six bolts of cloth from a freight car. They were taken to the Pontiac jail, and said they were John Olsen and Clyde E. Shaw. Norlund viewed the men in the jail, was interested in Shaw rather than in Olsen, and took Shaw's fingerprints. He mailed the prints to the St. Louis Heritilian Bureau, and wrote of the circumstances of the arrest, mentioning that John Olsen was arrested with Shaw.

Detectives to View Prisoners. Superintendent Shea of the Heritilian Bureau here told the Shaw prints were like those which he had for a man who has a prison record, but who is not now wanted here. He asked for Olsen's fingerprints, and they were sent. Olsen said today he believed the prints were identical with those of Oscar Olsen.

Olsen jumped a bond here in February, 1920, when he was under arrest on a robbery charge, coupled with a charge of being an habitual criminal, as he had been in the penitentiary. The police here have not seen him since that time. It was decided to send a detective to Pontiac, to complete the identification and ask for the prisoner, who can be brought here as a bond-jumper, without extradition proceedings. Detective Thomas Sheller was assigned to go to Pontiac.

Olsen is said, in the information received from Pontiac, to have a shuffling gait. This is the most noticeable characteristic of the man who has been sought for the murder of the policemen. The man's manner of walking appears to be due to habit, rather than to any deformity. Olsen, according to the police information, is a former waiter.

This shuffling gait was the most definite detail in the descriptions which the detectives obtained of the man who fled from the Junata street neighborhood after the double killing.

Details of the Shooting. Detectives Moller and Anslin, who were assigned to the Magnolia Avenue Police Station, followed two men whom they saw walking up a terrace in front of the flat at 3868-70 Junata street, about 8:30 p. m. The men turned, and shot the detectives before they had a chance to draw their revolvers. The men ran south through a passageway.

Robert Rildard, 18 years old, of 4120 Hartford street, the nearest witness of the shooting, testified at the coroner's inquest and told particularly of the peculiar walk of one of the men.

A girl and boy living on McDonald avenue, five blocks south of Junata street, told of seeing a man, noticeable by his peculiar gait, run through a passageway, stop as he came out on the street, and light a cigarette under a street lamp.

Worked on South Side. Detectives were told by a former associate of Olsen that he had committed a number of burglaries on the South Side in the fall of 1920, and that in one of them, at 4404 Lafayette avenue, he had taken a revolver which he later used. He said Olsen preferred to "work" in South St. Louis.

Olsen's picture was recognized by a young man, who was at 3227 Hartford street on the night of the killing, as being like a man who called at the door and asked whether a department store package had been left at the house. The police believe the inquiry was merely made as an excuse for ringing the bell, and that if one had come to the door the man would have entered and robbed the house. No definite information has been obtained about the other of the two men who shot the detectives.

The Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce offered a reward of $1000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the men who killed the detectives.

ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE PILSUDSKI IS REPORTED

Warsaw Dispatch to Copenhagen Says Man Secreted Self in Polish President's Room.

COPENHAGEN, July 13.—A dispatch to the Berlingske Tidende from Warsaw today says it has been learned an attempt was made to assassinate President Pilsudski of Poland, and that the police have run down a plot to overthrow the present government.

The authorities, says the message, are maintaining the utmost reserve with regard to the affair, but it appears that a man had forced himself into President Pilsudski's room and fired several shots. A number of arrests have been made.

There is some similarity between the circumstances narrated in the foregoing dispatch and those described in a Warsaw message of June 26, which told of an attempt by an apparently unbalanced man to gain admission to the presidential palace in the Polish capital. Several shots were fired by the man, it was stated, after he had been refused admittance to the palace, and while the police were overpowering him, one member of the force was wounded.

76TH KROGER STORE ROBBERY; $12 TAKEN BY TWO YOUTHS

Fred Sumpter, manager of the Kroger grocery store at 2424 North Sarah street, reported to the police that two young men robbed the store of $12 at 9:30 this morning, after having ordered him into a rear room. This is the seventy-sixth report of a Kroger store robbery in a period of a little less than two years. Convictions of four men recently were obtained, in two cases growing out of Kroger store robberies.

Sumpter said one of the young men had a revolver. The police report on the matter relates that Sumpter obeyed the robbers' command "without reluctance," sitting on a box in the rear room while they took the money from the cash register. As they were leaving the place, Sumpter said, they called to him to sit still for 10 minutes.

Hygiene Exhibit at Y. M. H. A.

The Young Men's Hebrew Association in co-operation with the United States Public Health Service is holding a hygiene exhibit for men and boys at the club rooms, 2545 Delmar boulevard. The exhibit contains some of the very latest pictures and material prepared by the government, in a "keeping fit" campaign.

Suppose you could wish a washing machine!

Wouldn't you wish for one tub in which to do all operations, instead of two or three?

Wouldn't you wish for a machine that would never require you to put your hands in hot, sudsy water to rinse, blue or dry?

Wouldn't you wish for a machine that would dry the clothes for the line without a wringer?—and dry them like magic, in a minute?

Wouldn't you wish for a machine that simply couldn't smash, break or tear off buttons, fasteners, hooks and eyes?

Wouldn't such a machine seem ideal—seem like a dream?

Yet it's here—here now—and it's waiting for you to come and see it. Thousands of women now know their dream has come true.

This machine is called the Laund-Dry-ETTE—we will gladly demonstrate it for you.

Be sure you see the Laund-Dry-ette before you buy a washer—this is our special demonstration week. Sold on easy terms.

GERMANS WHO SHOT AT LIFEBOATS TRIED FOR MURDER

Sinking of the Canadian Hospital Ship Llandover Castle Is Before German Court at Leipzig.

ONE STANDS SILENT UNDER HIS PLEDGE

Lieut. Dittman, Wearing Iron Cross, Says He Promised Commander of Submarine Never to Speak of Case.

By the Associated Press. LEIPZIG, Germany, July 13.—Two German submarine lieutenants, Ludwig Dittman and Johann Boldt, were placed on trial here today in the Supreme Court, charged with murder in the first degree for firing on lifeboats after the torpedoing of the Canadian hospital ship Llandover Castle, in the summer of 1918.

The case differs from the others which have been heard by the court in connection with charges growing out of violations of the rules of civilized warfare, inasmuch as the proceedings are in behalf of the German Public Prosecutor. Great Britain had only demanded the trial of Commander Patzig of the submarine, which torpedoed the hospital ship, who fled the country, but the prosecutor, after examining the evidence, ordered the trial of Dittman and Boldt.

Defendants Wear Iron Crosses. Lieut. Dittman appeared in uniform, while Lieut. Boldt was dressed in civilian clothes. Both of them wore iron crosses.

Asked what was his answer to the charge, Dittman sullenly refused to make reply, finally saying he had pledged his word to Commander Patzig never to speak about the case.

Lieut. Boldt pleaded not guilty, adding that he was obliged by the commander, "whose word was law," referring to the torpedoing.

He was silent regarding the charge of firing on the lifeboats.

Second Officer Chapman of the Llandover Castle gave an impressive account of the sinking of the hospital ship and the subsequent conduct of the submarine. He said he was ordered, under threats of instant death, aboard the submarine, although he pleaded to save his comrades who were left to drown.

Tried to Ram Lifeboat. Chapman then was released in his lifeboat, but afterwards he was re-ordered alongside the submarine and questioned whether the Llandover Castle carried ammunition, which he denied. One of the German officers charged the ship had eight American flying officers aboard. To this Chapman said he replied that they were army service corps officers. The lifeboat again was released, after which, declared the witness, the submarine repeatedly attempted to ram it, but he escaped, whereupon the submarine fired 14 shells, two of them passing over the lifeboat.

Chapman said he saw a British sailor on the submarine, but that he was pushed off. Of the seven members of the hospital ship, two of them capsized, although the sea was calm.

Clothing Station Closed. The Near East Relief organization announces that the St. Louis receiving station for worn clothing has been closed. Should there still be any one who wishes to make a contribution of clothing the packages may be forwarded to the Near East Relief Association Warehouse, 549 West Thirty-ninth street, New York City.

China's Reply Sent Through Minister in Washington. By the Associated Press. PEKING, July 11.—The Chinese Foreign Office, according to the best information obtainable today, has replied to President Harding's disarmament conference proposal through S. Alfred Sze, the Chinese minister in Washington, urging the inclusion of China in the conference.

Inquiry has brought indication of the non-receipt in Peking of a communication from Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain relative to the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

Cigar at Filling Station SENDS MAN TO HOSPITAL. Joseph Mahford, 24, of 927 La Salle street, manager of an oil filling station at Ninth street and Chouteau avenue, was seriously burned on the hands and arms last night when Doran Millard of East St. Louis stopped his car there to get gas and lighted a cigar, igniting gasoline trickling down the hose with which Mahford was filling the tank.

Mahford was taken to the city hospital. A fire alarm was turned in, but the fire was extinguished before the apparatus arrived.

2,874,275 TONS OF SHIPPING BEING BUILT IN BRITISH EMPIRE

That Under Construction in Rest of World Aggregates Only 1,361,634 Tons.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Returns of Lloyd's register of shipping made public yesterday showed that 2,874,275 tons of vessels are being built in the United Kingdom, as against 1,361,634 tons in all the other countries.

The great falling off in building in this country particularly accounted for the decrease in the last three months. Two years ago the United States was building 1,350,000 tons more than the United Kingdom. Nearly 60 per cent of the world's construction is now being carried on in British shipyards.

Compared with the tonnage under way a year ago, the United States has fallen off 1,389,000 tons and the United Kingdom only 48,000 tons. The American total is barely one-third of what it was at this time last year.

The peak of American construction was in the spring of 1919, when 4,186,000 tons were being built in this country. World production attained its peak in September, 1919, when 8,048,000 tons were being built.

James Milton, who has been chief estimator of Lloyd's since 1890, will retire Sept. 30 and will be succeeded by H. Ruck-Keene, who has been his assistant for 12 years.

GREAT BRITAIN, ITALY AND FRANCE ACCEPT BID TO CONFERENCE

day next, and all preparations have been made for the meeting, according to M. Viviani, but President Harding's action constitutes a new fact of a nature that changes the whole face of the situation.

As president of the commission, and consequently the mere mandator of the league, M. Viviani said he did not have the right to adjourn the session on his own responsibility. Such initiative must come from the council of the league. However, he considered it likely that just as the council suspended its decision on the amendment pact, in the absence of a representative of the United States, it would take similar action concerning the question of disarmament.

It is understood that the commission will meet Saturday as arranged, under the presidency of M. Viviani, but will adjourn after it has taken cognizance of President Harding's proposal. M. Viviani, in his presidential address will give his views on the American action and its effect on the work under taken by the league with the same object.

Conference Plan Fully Approved by Italian Government. By the Associated Press. ROME, July 13.—The Foreign Ministry officially notified the American embassy last night that President Harding's plan for a conference for the limitation of armaments meets with the full approval of the Italian Government.

COMMENT OF ROME PAPERS ON DISARMAMENT MOVE

The Paese Says: This Is Not the First Effort, and Always Armament Has Increased—Vatican Approves Proposal.

By the Associated Press. ROME, July 13.—The newspaper Paese says: "It is not the first time the reduction of armaments has been talked of, but each time armaments are increased. President Harding's proposition is certainly made in perfect good faith."

The Popolo Romano says that President Harding's invitation concerns Great Britain and Japan especially.

The Osservatore Romano, the organ of the Vatican, prints a semi-official note warmly congratulating President Harding on the initiative he has taken for an international conference on the limitation of armaments.

The American President's action, says the note, is identical with that which Pope Benedict took in August, 1917, when his holiness wrote to the Powers with the object of ending the war, and it adds that the Pope will experience the liveliest pleasure in seeing his prayers realized under the powerful initiative of the United States.

London Times Opposes Lloyd George as Delegate to Washington. By the Associated Press. LONDON, July 13.—The London Times, which is a severe critic of the Premier and the present Government, today discusses, in its editorial columns, the possible British representatives to the Washington disarmament conference. It declares that neither the Premier nor the Foreign Minister "is fitted by his position, his temperament and his past career to take a direct part in these negotiations."

The constitutional place of both Ministers in the newspaper, it says, is within the British realm, but it says it is not chiefly on constitutional grounds that their participation in the conference would be opposed. It then cites the activities of the Premier and Lord Curzon previous to President Harding's proposal, which it declares indicated British initiative in the matter had been considered, although it long was known that the American President contemplated such a proposal; therefore courtesy suggested awaiting further action on the President's part.

The Times states that the dominican Premiers actually were discussing British initiative Sunday at Chequers Court, when the American Ambassador arrived with President Harding's message.

"It was decided in the nick of time, for however courteously British initiative may have been received in Washington, more than doubt hangs over the character of the conference if the American public," continues the newspaper, "suspect could have been aroused that Great Britain was seeking ends other than those professed."

"It is for the same reason of avoiding suspicion that the attendance of Premier Lloyd George and Lord Curzon in Washington seems particularly undesirable. The great qualifications needed by the representatives of this empire for leadership in the conference are character for conspicuous straightforwardness and honor. Mr. Lloyd George does not possess this character. Of all statesmen in Europe he probably is most distrusted. In America he is widely regarded as the man who compassed President Wilson with his 'wizardry.'"

The newspaper then turns to Lord Curzon, alleging that his "pompous and pretentious manner and incapacity for business do not fit him to discharge the responsible duties the mission would impose."

LUMBERMEN HERE TO SAVE $300,000 YEARLY ON FREIGHT

C. of C. Traffic Bureau Announces Transit Privilege in Rates Has Been Obtained for St. Louis.

An advance to St. Louis lumber interests, in the form of a saving in freight rates, is indicated in the announcement of the Chamber of Commerce traffic bureau, that transit privilege freight rates will be applied to St. Louis lumber shipments.

Heretofore lumber shipped here from the South and Southwest, and reshipped from here, has paid a double charge. Hereafter, such shipments will pay one through rate from point of origin to final destination. The saving is estimated by P. W. Coyle, traffic commissioner of the Chamber of Commerce, as $300,000 a year. He said the change would be of special importance at this time, as helping to encourage building.

To Keep Straightest, Unruliest Hair in Curl

The straightest, contrasted hair can be kept in curl, even in the hottest or dampest weather, by such simple, yet long, enduring, blistering curling iron is altogether impossible. One need only get a few ounces of plain liquid cream to the hair before doing it on. The result is quite remarkable. The hair is delightfully wavy and beautifully glossy without being in the least greasy, gummy or streaked. The effect lasts very much longer than where other cream curling irons are used, with the hair from crown to tip, profuse after curling it into strands. The application seems to gradually improve the texture and health of the hair.

BILLS PASSED TO AID
VOTE FRAUD INQUIRIES

Measures for Use of Primary Records Approved in Both Houses at Jefferson City.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 12.—

Primary election bills, permitting

the use of primary election records in prosecutions for election frauds in primaries, were passed in the Senate and House yesterday, though the bills were not enacted into law, as the Senate passed Senate bills and the House passed House bills.

The bills are exactly the same, but before they become laws the Senate must pass the House bills or the House must pass the Senate bills. It is expected this action will be taken before the end of the week.

The Senate also passed the general primary bill, providing regulations for holding primary elections.

The principal feature of the measure is that it provides for the nomi-ination of Supreme, Court of Appeals and Circuit Judges by conventions instead of in primaries.

At the regular session a similar bill failed of passage in the House, where there was strong objection to making a nomination of Judges out of the primary. The same condition exists now, and it is probable the House will amend the bill to continue the primary nominations.

NEGRO GETS LIFE SENTENCE
Man Who Confessed Murder of Negroes Repudiates Statement.
Nathaniel Johnson, 36 years old,
of 1507 Morgan street, a negro, was sentenced to life imprisonment for murder by a jury last night in Judge Landwehr's court.

On April 11 last, Annie Allen, 65,
of 1515 Morgan street, a negro, was murdered and robbed in her home. Her throat was cut. At the Coroner's inquest Johnson was a witness, but was not suspected of the crime. Later he confessed that he committed the crime to Capt. Stinger and again to Circuit Attorney Sid-ener, in the presence of others. At his trial he repudiated the confession, declaring himself innocent.

Paying for the Home

"Up to two years ago my money all went to doctors and medicines for my stomach trouble. I was constantly filled with gas, and no medicine helped me permanently until I tried a bottle of Mayer's Wonderful Remedy at that time with excellent results. Now I am using my money in paying for a home." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allows the inflammation which causes indigestion, flatu-lence, liver and intestinal ailments, and headache, to disappear. It is a safe, effective or money refunded. Write for

MADDOX MAY BE NAMED SCHOOL HEAD TUESDAY

Board of Education, at Recess Meeting, Is Expected to Appoint Superintendent.

It is considered likely that at a recess meeting of the Board of Education next Tuesday the question of appointment of a permanent Superintendent of Instruction will be discussed, and that John J. Maddox, who has been acting Superintendent since Feb. 14, succeeding Dr. John W. Withers when the latter resigned to become dean of the School of Education, New York University, will receive the permanent appointment.
The salary is $8000 a year. One reason for Dr. Withers' resignation was the failure of the board to increase his salary to $12,000.

Meeting Specially Called.
Ordinarily, the next meeting of the board would have been in September, but at the request of John C. Tobin, acting chairman of the Committee on Instruction, at last night's meeting, the recess meeting was called to take up "certain important matters affecting the department."

"The permanent appointment of a superintendent might come up," Tobin said to a Post-Dispatch reporter.
"I believe there is good foundation for the belief that Mr. Maddox may be appointed. I have heard no other candidate discussed."

"Other matters we want to take up are plans for new schools we would like to erect, under a scheme announced some time ago, and certain changes in the instruction department pertaining to the reclassification of work of the department heads, for greater efficiency. Then there are several lesser matters."

Maddox was principal of Cleveland High School when he was made acting superintendent, at the age of 44.
He was born in Kentucky, and began teaching rural schools there when he was 18 years old. He graduated from Yale University in 1907, and later was a high school principal in Connecticut. He received his master's degree at Columbia University,
New York, 1912. In 1910 he came to St. Louis and was principal of the Blow and Wyman schools until he went to Cleveland High last autumn.
He is married, and has one daughter.

Pending Resolution Adopted.
A resolution offered by Tobin was adopted last night endorsing State recognition of a teachers' pension fund and seeking to bring the matter before the State Constitutional Convention if one is called, in accordance with the vote on that sub-

A letter from Miss Rosa Hesse,
a former teacher at the Sigel School, who was recently dismissed because of alleged attacks by her on the character of Christopher W. Johnson, a member of the board, addressed to Stephen M. Wagner, a member who led in the vain fight to prevent her dismissal, was read and entered in the records. She wrote to Wagner that "it seemed useless for him to bring up a resolution for her reinstatement" last night, as he had said he would do.

She said she would leave the matter of her reinstatement in Warner's hands and declared that her recent acceptance of a position as head of the women's department of a bank did not signify she did not desire reinstatement. She reviewed her side of the case and ended:

Calls Status One of Fear.

"It is a sorry condition when the teacher, whose work required years of preparation, is at the mercy of a capricious board member. The teacher is not a hireling of the board, but is a servant of the people. The status of the St. Louis teachers is now, more than ever, one of intimidation and of fear."

The board received a petition from Samuel West, attorney for the Grade
Teachers' Association, of which Miss Hesse was president until her dismissal, asking the repeal of a rule, which, it was declared, permitted the superintendent to dismiss teachers for causes considered sufficient by him. The petition declared that this rule violates the law.

RALPH HERZ, COMEDIAN, DIES

He Came to U. S. From England in 1906.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, July 13.—Ralph Herz, for 15 years a widely known comedian in musical and light comedy plays in New York and throughout this country, died yesterday morning in the Atlantic City Hospital, of diabetes. He had been ill several months, but only within the last two weeks had he been unable to appear in "Blossom Time," his last touring engagement.

Herz was born in England and came to this country in 1906, playing first with Lulu Glaser in "Miss Dolly Dollars," a year later marrying the star. He appeared later in "Ruggles of Red Gap," and the Winter Garden production, "The Whirl of the World," and "Monte Cristo Jr."
He had parts in "The Soul Kiss,"
"Madame Sherry," "A Pair of Sixes,"
"Miss Nobody From Starland," and other plays. His home was in To-keno, Conn. The funeral and burial will be in Atlantic City.

Nan Arrested as Lottery Agent

Charles H. Wohrley, 40 years old, of 1901 South Jefferson avenue, a switchman, arrested by the police last night when they saw him pass a check over the bar in a saloon a half block from his home last night, admitted, the police say, acting as an agent for a lottery here.
The package was found to contain 40 tickets in the lottery, and 31
tickets were found in his pockets.
Wohrley said he made 25 per cent commission on all sales. He was held for questioning by the Circuit Attorney.

'PIRATES' CHARMINGLY SUNG, DROLLY PLAYED

Police Chorus and Moulan Monocle Amuse Municipal Opera Audience.

A large audience and a neatly sliced half-moon, looking down on the Municipal Theater stage last night, saw the Gilbert and Sullivan "Pirates of Penzance" played in the spirit of pure drollery in which it was written. It was the opening of the opera season's sixth week, and the performance was of a sort to invite and justify the big public response for which the opera management hopes this week, as well as the two following weeks.

After the forced comedy and the starched costumes of last week's "Beggar Student," there is a welcome robustness about the speeches of "The Pirates," and the simple parb of buccanera, policemen and summer girls. The scenes, a strip of sea coast and a castle yard, did not call for great scenic expenditure. The chorus, which always has enough to do in Gilbert and Sullivan opera, was adequate to the stage, and seemed over-adequate for the requirements of the book, to see "The Pirates" satisfactorily done with one-third or one-fourth as many young women. Fifty daughters, for a British Major-General, is a large order, even in comic opera.

Real "Comic Opera." The Gilbert and Sullivan works, of which "The Pirates" is among the three most familiar, undoubtedly did more than any others to give the term "comic opera" the meaning which it has borne for a generation. All the situations are what we have come to know as comic opera situations—the tender-hearted pirate band who will not molest an orphan of any age; the pirates' apprentice, born on Feb. 29, whose twenty-first birthday will not come to free him until he is past 80; the Major-General who summons a force of policemen against the pirate band; the surrender of the pirates, after they have the policemen at their mercy, because of their respect for their king; and the pardon of the pirates when it is learned that they are erring members of the nobility.

In the overture, and in the music of the second act, the audience greeted the refrain known to service men, students and banquet-goers as "Hail, the Gang's All Here." These words, and the slightly profane expression of indifference which usually follows them, would be appropriate for pirates, but the words which the major-general sings at this point, "Come, friends who plow the sea." There are other airs only a little less familiar than this one, such as the policeman's march, with its "ta-ra-ra-ra" refrain. The duets have moments of tenderness and beauty.

Moulan Has a Monocle. Frank Moulan, with monocle and red coat, appeared late in the first act, to recite the qualifications of his rank of Major-General, and to plead with the pirates not to carry away and wed his daughters, who numbered a fraction more than two to a pirate. His inquiry as to the pirates' occupation brings the response of their chief that, as contrasted with respectability, they are comparatively honest.

J. Humbird Duffy, in the role of Frederic, the pirate's apprentice, sang the tenor solos with spirit and fine vocal quality. In the duets, Anne Bussert's voice showed delicacy and feeling rather than strength. Charles E. Gallagher sang about the delights of being a pirate, and Harry Hermanson, in a British police sergeant's uniform, had a look of Hibernian comedy. Mildred Rogers, as Ruth, might have been made up to conform more closely to her supposed age of 17, and to lack more noticeably the charms which Frederic missed after he had compared her with other women.

No Night Riders Here. The policemen's chorus was the laugh of the performance. Day walkers, rather than night riders, are these helmeted and tremulous constables.

Joan Wiltrout, appearing with Miss Bussert and Rhoda Nickells in the Major-General's entourage, spoke up and sang up prettily. James Stevens sang the role of pirate Lieutenant.

Another degree or two of warmth in the atmosphere might have caused discomfort to the audience. As it was, the carbonated drink brigade had a busy evening.

BERLIN HEARS INTERALLIED MISSION HEAD IS RECALLED

Newspaper Reports Change Is to Be Made in French Personnel in Silesia.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, July 12.—The Acht Uhr Abendblatt says it learns in diplomatic circles that it has been decided to recall the French General, Lerond, head of the Interallied Commission in Upper Silesia, and to make a radical change in the French personnel in Silesia. This move was decided upon, according to the newspaper, after energetic representations were made by Great Britain and Italy in consequence of reports of their members on the Interallied Commission.

It is added that Gen. Lerond's successor probably will be a French civilian.

HARRY HAWKER, HIS PLANE AFIRE, LEAPS TO DEATH

The "Hawker Luck" Fails Daring Aviator Who First Tried to Fly Across the Atlantic Ocean.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, July 12.—Harry G. Hawker, the first aviator to attempt a flight across the Atlantic in an airplane, met a terrible death yesterday while flying over the Hendon Field. The machine was seen descending in flames, and Hawker's body was found 200 yards from the spot where the airplane fell. It was badly mutilated both by fire and the fall; one foot was severed and both legs were broken. He apparently leaped from the blazing plane.

Hawker made the start of his memorable air voyage across the Atlantic from St. John's Newfoundland, on May 18, 1919. He was accompanied by Lieutenant-Commander Mackenzie Grieve, as navigator. The intrepid voyagers were missing for six days and were virtually given up for lost, when word flashed that the little Danish steamer, Mary, had picked up the wayfarers. They had been forced to alight on the water

BRITISH AIRMAN WHO DIED IN ACCIDENT

about 1050 miles out from Newfoundland and 850 miles from the Irish coast.

On his return to England Hawker was decorated by the King. The first transatlantic nonstop crossing by airplane was achieved a month later by Capt. John Alcock and Lieut. A. W. Brown, both of whom were knighted for the marvelous feat. Alcock himself died a few months later from injuries received when he crashed to earth near Cotteville, France. The first transatlantic flight, with a stop at the Azores, was made by the American plane N C 4.

The proverbial luck of Harry G. Hawker had often been the subject of comment. It remained with him for many years as an experimental and test flyer, from which work, it was said, he received not less than $100,000 yearly. He held many of the old-time airplane records, among them the world's altitude record in 1916 of more than 24,000 feet.

At a luncheon given in his honor, Lieutenant-Commander Grieve's honor, Hawker deprecated the honor of the first crossing of the Atlantic by a heavier-than-air machine. He held that it was not a serious attempt, with a station at "every 20 yards." His remarks were greeted with absolute silence on the part of the men gathered at the luncheon, nearly all of whom were British.

Later, Hawker explained his remarks, saying that his point had been misunderstood, and that they were intended for those who were criticizing the Government for not supplying station ships for his flight. "Nothing was further from my mind," he said, "than to criticize the Americans."

Woman Falls Dead When at Work.
Mrs. Mary E. Taylor, 58 years old, wife of James Taylor of Belleville, fell dead yesterday afternoon when she was hanging wash in the ward of her home. A short time previously she complained to Mrs. George Rogers, a daughter, of the heat.

Mrs. Taylor leaves seven children and 12 grand children. Deputy Coroner Gaedner held an inquest and a diet of autopsy was returned.

FINAL HEARING ON MARKET ST. WIDENING

Protests Against Changes to Be Placed Before Board of Public Service Friday.

A final hearing before the Board of Public Service on a proposal of the City Plan Commission to widen Market street, by taking 40 feet off the property abutting on the south side from Vandeventer avenue east to a point 50 feet east of the east line of Seventh street, will be held Friday at the city hall.

At a previous hearing arguments in favor of the proposal were presented. Arguments against the proposal will be presented Friday by property owners in the district to be directly affected by the widening and by others who have given notice that they wish to protest against the special assessment for the work.

The plan also contemplates the construction of a cut-off, or new street, extending diagonally from a point 50 feet east of Seventh street to the intersection of Sixth and Walnut streets, and the widening of Walnut, from Sixth to Third.

The property owners will object to the proposed improvement on the ground that the uses to which the property is now put and any uses for which the land is to be taken will not enable the property owners to meet the benefit tax; that the abutting property would not be salable at any increased price, nor a rental demand be created; that damage that would result to abutting property would greatly damage the city at large and that the cost of the improvement would be so great as to confiscate or force the sacrifice of a number of parcels of property.

The property owners will maintain that with the present streets well surfaced and properly maintained all the travel that may and should naturally be attracted to Market street can pass over it safely without undue congestion.

CULBERTSON ESTATE TO WIDOW

Jeweler's Will Gives $1 to Each of Six Children.

The will of Stephen D. Culbertson, 8060 Raymond avenue, vice president of the Hess & Culbertson Jewelry Co., who died last Saturday, was filed yesterday.

To each of his six children was left $1, and the residue of his estate goes to his widow, Mrs. Mary E. Culbertson.

Indicted in Fatal Stabbing.
W. J. Widman, 33 years old, of 6919 South Broadway, a painter, was indicted yesterday on a charge of murder in the second degree in connection with the death of Daniel O'Brien, 50, of 7128 Alabama avenue, who was stabbed July 4 in a saloon at 7201 South Broadway. O'Brien died last Saturday, after having identified Widman as his assailant. O'Brien said that he and Widman had quarreled and that Widman renewed the fight when they met in the saloon.

This tooth paste makes your mouth water

THERE'S a lot of good in having your "mouth water." It means that saliva is being supplied to digest your food and preserve your teeth.

LISTERINE TOOTH PASTE

makes your mouth water. It is an acid tooth paste; made so with a mild fruit acid.

When you clean your teeth with Listerine Tooth Paste you feel at once the increased flow of saliva, which is Nature's preserver for the teeth.

While your mouth is fresh from this flow of healthful saliva, try putting on your tongue a touch of baking soda. Instantly everything stops: dries up; showing that an alkaline tooth paste prevents Nature's processes.

An acid tooth paste is best.

"Nothing Succeeds Like SUCCESS"

is an old French proverb which applies very well to Red Crown the high grade gasoline.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) enjoys a tremendous gallonage in St. Louis. Thousands of motorists use Red Crown buying it through Company-owned Service Stations.

But, its dependability for uniform high quality has been demonstrated so conclusively that now Red Crown is sold by independent dealers in addition to the Company-owned stations.

The independent dealer is a shrewd merchant. He must hold the good will of his customer. To accomplish this he must sell products that give satisfaction. He cannot take a chance on an unknown quantity.

And, the independent dealer has found that Red Crown starts easily, gets away with a snap, accelerates smoothly and quickly, and delivers all the power and speed that the motor is capable of developing.

The verdict of the independent dealer adds to the preponderance of evidence in favor of Red Crown.

TENANT WINS SUIT BECAUSE NOTICE WAS SERVED ON WIFEJustice McChesney Bases Ruling on Decision of Court of Appeals
Ten Years Ago.

Justice McChesney yesterday ruled against a landlord in a rent relief case, basing his ruling on a decision by former Judge Norton of the St. Louis Court of Appeals, handed down 10 years ago, in which it was held that notice must be served on the tenant or his agent, not his wife.

The case was a proceeding for unlawful detainer instituted by the Albert G. Blanke Real Estate Co., 711 Chestnut street, against M. Klein, a tenant at 4175 Lafayette avenue. The place was rented to Klein at $50 a month, and on May 14 last notice in writing was served on Mrs. Klein to vacate within a month. The Kleins did not move, and on June 17 the premises were demanded in a written notice.

This was all the evidence in the case, as the Kleins are out of the city. They were represented by T. J. Hoon, attorney for the Rent Relief

Gardner told the police that he had advertised that he had $1000 to invest in a paying business and that Richardson induced him to buy a partnership in the company, representing that there was good profit in the business. Gardner said that after working a month in an empty office, without any evidence of customers, he decided that he had "bought a lemon."

A Brain Can't Work Right on Thin, Watery Blood

It takes iron to make strong, magnetic, forceful men with the power and energy to win.

A capable intelligent man falls just short of success—nearly "gets there"—but quite simply because he lacks sufficient iron in his blood to give him the strength and power to furnish the proper FORCE TO HIS BRAIN. "STAY THERE" STRENGTH TO HIS "WILL."

THE ARE 30,000,000,000,000 RED BLOOD CORPUSCLES IN YOUR BODY and each one must have iron as iron is absolutely necessary to enable the blood to change food into living cells and tissues and to carry oxygen from the lungs to your brain. Without this your brain cannot do its work right—think the thoughts that win—any more than a locomotive can pull its train of cars with a weak, smoldering fire under its boiler.

WHEN YOUR BLOOD IS STARVING FOR IRON no more tonic nor stimulant can put you right. You must have iron. It is the power that makes the muscles and the veins and skins of fruits and vegetables as our forefathers did, or as a little organic iron from time to time and eat more such iron-containing foods as spinach and apples. But be sure the iron you take is organic iron and not metallic or mineral iron, which people usually take. Metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron, and is therefore an entirely different thing from organic iron. Organic iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach and apples. It may be had from the most famous under the name of Nuxated Iron. Nuxated Iron represents organic iron in such highly condensed form that al publication to carry on its fraternal work and Americanism program.

Meanwhile cooks struggled with roasts by the ton in two great barbeques to satisfy the inner cravings of the thousands upon thousands of Elks gathered at the drill park and at Ingwood, near here, where another program of entertainment was staged.

Tomorrow and Friday will be parade days of the fifty-seventh convention. The Grand Lodge reunion parade will be held tomorrow morning. The evening will bring forth a motion picture electrical street pageant featured by floats and advertisements by the motion picture production studios of Southern California. Friday's parade will be of the massed bands of Elks, with seven divisions of pageantry. The convention program of the entertainment will extend over Saturday and Sunday.

$1595 SEIZED IN RAID ON DICE GAME AT 7724 GRAVOIS

Four County Deputy Sheriffs Arrest Alleged Banker and Croupier and Take Names of 10 Players.

20 SETS OF DICE ALSO CONFISCATED

Place Operated Under Name of Cherokee Association in Basement of Frank Schmidt's Saloon.

A dice game in the cellar of Frank Schmidt's saloon, 7724 Gravois avenue, St. Louis County, was raided at 10:30 o'clock last night by four Deputy Sheriffs. Frank Pieper, 37, 1326A Arlington avenue, and David Boulton, 31, 6039A Bartmer avenue, who are said to have been acting as banker and croupier, respectively, were arrested. Ten players were taken as witnesses.

20 Sets of Dice Seized.
The deputies confiscated $1411 in silver and $184 in paper money, 20 sets of dice and a croupier which will be used as evidence.

Circulation of a card announcing that the "Cherokee Association," which formerly held meetings at 7700 Gravois avenue, would meet after July 1 at Wexel's place, at the end of the Cherokee line, caused the raid. Chief Deputy Sheriff Lill says it was learned that gamblers met at Wexel's place, which is inside the city limits, and were taken from there to Schmidt's place in automobiles.

Deputies Lill, Austin, Rosenthal and Bockstiegel last night drove past Schmidt's place and saw six men. Bockstiegel went back and bought a soft drink and looked about for a door to the cellar, where the game was understood to be in progress, but could not locate it. The four deputies then went to a cemetery across the road from Schmidt's and watched through a window of the saloon until they saw a cellar door, partly concealed by a panel of the bar, opened. Played With Marked Money.
Austin and Rosenthal went in and were admitted to the cellar. Rosenthal played with marked money and lost it. Austin did not play. After 10 minutes Lill and Bockstiegel entered the saloon and Lill demanded admittance to the cellar. Schmidt refused to open the door unless Lill had a search warrant. While Bockstiegel, with a revolver, kept Schmidt away from the buzzer, Lill broke down the door. They went down the steps and came to another door, fitted with a peep hole. They broke that down and got into the gambling room.

The banker had a wooden box before him into which had gone Rosenthal's marked money, along with that of other players. The banker snapped it shut and locked it and it has not been opened.

Lill says he recognized one well-known St. Louis gambler among the players. Schmidt was not arrested. Additional warrants are to be asked for, however.

Man Indicted in Park Holdup.
Louis Cory, 23 years old, a cook living at Eleventh and Mallinckrodt streets, was indicted yesterday afternoon on a charge of first degree robbery in connection with the holdup of Mrs. Augusta Hofeldt of Kansas City in Forest Park at noon Monday, when she was robbed of a gold purse and two diamond rings, all valued by her at $675. Cory was arrested after a chase by Charles Parker of 5895 Clemens avenue and Joseph Peterson of 1329 Blackstone avenue. One of Mrs. Hofeldt's rings, which she valued at $175, was found in Cory's pocket. The purse was found in the grass where it had been thrown in the chase. The second ring was not recovered.

BERNERO HEIRS FILE SUIT FOR EVICTIONS

Claimants to Eight-Eighths of Washington Av. Building Seek Possession of Property.

Collateral heirs of Augustino Bernero, a native of Italy, who died 15 years ago, filed an eviction suit yesterday against tenants of a five-story building at 800-82 Washington avenue, alleging that as heirs of Bernero they own eight-eighths of the site of the building, which land they value at $200,000. They assert that they have been entitled to possession since July 1, 1914, and that the defendants unlawfully occupy the property. Besides recovery of the property the plaintiffs ask for $70,000 damages and $2000 a month rental. The defendants are Hallung & Grimm Furniture Co., Kolb & Telch, United Skirt & Dress Co., G. R. Schmidt Woolen Co., Washington Catering Co., St. Louis Union Trust Co., the Meisheimer Baking Co. and several individuals.

The plaintiffs are Teresa Cella, Rosa Arada, Vincenzo Bernero, Anthony Bernero, Amadeo Bernero, Lina Brizzolari and Gemma Marre. Counsel for the plaintiffs say the eviction suit is based on a recent decision by the Missouri Supreme Court in the suit of Louis Bernero, 37 years old, who claimed the entire estate of his foster-grandfather, the late Louis Bernero, owner of the Washington avenue property. The plaintiff was a son of Emanuel Bernero, son of Augustino Bernero, a brother of Louis Bernero Sr., and was adopted by the latter. The adopted son did not survive his foster father and when the latter died he left his estate to his wife.

At her death, she willed the property to her sister and nephews and nieces, except $10,000, which was left for the education of young Louis Bernero. The latter, in his suit, alleged he was the only lawful heir of the Louis Bernero and wife. The Supreme Court, according to counsel in the present suit, held that although young Louis Bernero was not a direct heir of the elder Louis and could not claim to be the only lawful heir he would have a right to a share of the estate through his own grandfather, who was a brother of Louis. It was stated that other heirs would file a similar suit claiming a collateral interest.

PATROLMAN SHOTS MAN IN LEG

Laborer Runs When Questioned
About Carton of Tobacco.

Frank Schaller, 23 years old, a laborer, of 710 O'Fallon street, was shot in the left leg at 1 p. m. yesterday by Patrolman Henry W. Kohne of the Carr Street District when he refused to halt after Kohne had fired three shots in the air. Schaller was walking along Main street with a carton of tobacco under his arm, and when Kohne stopped him and began questioning him about where he got the tobacco, he dropped the box and ran to Wash and Commercial streets. Kohne pursued him. Schaller was taken a prisoner to the city hospital where it was said that his wound was not serious. He said that he had bought the tobacco from a negro on the levee.

NO LIGHTS ON CHICAGO STREETS FOR SIX HOURS

City Thrown Into Darkness by Strike of Electrical Workers, Who Have Resumed Work.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 12.—Chicago groped its way through darkened streets for six hours last night, as the result of a strike of city electricians. The walkout, which began late in the afternoon, was ended shortly before midnight, when the men consented to return to work pending consideration of their demands for an increase in wages. In the meantime the city was left in almost complete darkness, with not a street light burning, and the police and fire alarm systems were paralyzed. Shortly after midnight, however, the men returned to work, and service was resumed as quickly as the stations could be put into service.

The strike was called despite last minute pleas of city officials and business men by Irvin (Boncos) Knott, business agent of the Electrical Workers' Union, although the city had offered wage increases to all but 40 of the 360 electrical workers involved. Knott refused delay so that the claims of the 40 men actually involved in the controversy might be given further consideration. The walkout involved the engineers and operators of 13 substations from which current is distributed.

The only illumination in the business district during the strike was supplied by lights within office buildings, store windows and electric signs.

Not a single street light was burning anywhere in the city. Police men patrolled in squads instead of singly, with the entire day force held at the stations on reserve. All firemen were also held ready for call during the period of darkness.

PROJECTS FOR EXPLOITATION OF COLONIES OF FRANCE

Development Work Either Under Way or to Begin Soon in Morocco,
Algeria, West Africa and Indo-China.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, July 12.—Prospects for further exploitation of France's colonial resources include important railway and port development schemes, according to advices received by the French commission in the United States. Among the French possessions in which construction work for development purposes has already been undertaken or is scheduled to be begun within a reasonable time, are Morocco, Algeria, West Africa and Indo-China.

Recently a number of French railway companies organized the Societe des Chemins de Fer du Maroc with a capital of 50,000,000 francs for railroad extension work in Morocco. Earthworks for sections of the line between Tangier, Rabat and Casablanca are to be completed this summer. Growth of railway traffic in Morocco is indicated by an increase in receipts from 4,000,000 francs in 1917 to 34,000,000 in 1920.

In Algeria the Senate has voted for an extension of the port of Algiers, including two new basins and an outer harbor extending over 300 acres, at an estimated cost of 160,000,000 francs. An extension of the ports of Saigon-Cholon and Haiphong Tourane and Kwang Chuan in Indo-China is also projected with further extension of the Trans Indo-China Railway.

Other development work is in prospect in French West Africa, including extension of the port of Dakar, completion of the Thies-Kayes Railway, extension of the Ivory Coast Railway and construction of a short coastal railway in Dahomey.

ATTEMPT TO SPEED
ROAD LEGISLATION
BLOCKED IN HOUSE

Effort to Report Ralph Bill Favorably Thwarted by Opponents Who Turn Back to Substitute Bill Plan.

ACTION WOULD HAVE SAVED A WEEK

Subcommittee Finds 40 Amendments Would Be Required to Present Stand of Dirt Road Men in Ralph Bill.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 12.—An attempt by Chairman Bailey of the House Committee on Roads, and Representative Bestor of Pemiscot County, members of a subcommittee, to expedite road legislation by reporting favorably in the House the Ralph bill with committee amendments, was thwarted by other members of the committee late yesterday afternoon.

After an agreement had been reached by a majority of the members of the subcommittee to abandon the plan of reporting a substitute House bill, and instead to decide on committee amendments to the Ralph bill, the "pork barrel" decided to return to the plan for the substitute bill.

The action contemplated on the Ralph bill would have shortened consideration of road legislation approximately a week, and probably would have made it possible for the Legislature to adjourn the latter part of next week. Consideration of the substitute bill promises to prolong the session at least a week. The subcommittee worked all yesterday going over the Ralph bill and preparing amendments. When evening came it was found that more than 40 amendments would be required to present the position of dirt road advocates who control the subcommittee as well as the full committee. Representative Whitaker urged that the large number of amendments would make the bill difficult of handling on the floor, and that it would be better to take the substitute measure to the House.

It was joined by Representative Morgan of Putnam County and Whitcomb of Knox County, and Bailey and Bestor were outvoted. Ralph Bill Through Senate. There is hope among the hard-surfaced roads forces that the committee will speedily report out the Ralph bill, however, and that it can be brought out on the floor of the House. The measure passed the Senate yesterday, and had its first reading in the House. It will be referred to the Roads Committee today, and can be reported back to the House as quickly as the committee is willing. It is possible to take the bill on it ahead of the committee substitute, which will not reach the House until tomorrow, and then will be only ready for engrossment.

While it is the general opinion that the "pork barrel" element is losing strength in the House, it is doubtful that an attempt to have the Senate bill considered ahead of the House bill would be successful at this time. The action of the Senate in voting unanimously for the Ralph bill in final passage yesterday caused considerable surprise. When the vote was taken Senator Chambers cast the only vote against it. Senator Whitcomb, one of the most bitter opponents of the measure, was out of the Senate chamber at the time, but when he entered a few minutes later he asked that he be recorded as voting for it. Chambers later explained that his reason for voting against the bill was that he had not had opportunity to examine it after it was printed, and that after examination he wished to change his vote from no to yes. The only absent Senators were McCullough of Knox County, Buford of Reynolds County and Harney of Boone County.

Bailey Under Care of Doctor. There was some apprehension today that Bailey would be unable to lead the fight for the Ralph bill in the House. He has not been well for several days, but has continued on the job. He is under the care of a physician who said Bailey had two degrees of fever and should remain in his hotel. Bailey said that he would work on the road bill as long as he was able to get to the Capitol.

While the committee will report to the House a bill containing Whitaker's proposal to appropriate $45,000,000 of the $100,000,000 road bond issue to the counties for gravel roads on a basis arrived at by ob-

STEP BY OBREGON TO FORM
COMMISSION TO ADJUST
DAMAGES FROM REVOLUTIONS

All Countries Whose Nationals Have Suffered Are Invited to Send Delegates to Meet Mexicans.

By the Associated Press. MEXICO CITY, July 13.—All countries whose nationals have suffered damages from Mexican revolutions have been invited by President Obregon to appoint delegates who will meet Mexican representatives and form a permanent commission to pass upon claims. The invitation took the form of a presidential decree, promulgated last night, in accordance with the law passed in May, 1913, at the instance of President Carranza, to give whatever official stamp was necessary to assure a permanent mixed commission dealing with indemnities.

President Obregon is declared to have been "inspired by a desire to act in accordance with the precepts of international law." The entire session of the Cabinet is said to have been occupied by a discussion of this plan, and it was decided it was unnecessary for Congress to act.

The square root area of the counties, the square root proposition seemingly has little standing among the House members. Even those inclined to join with Whitaker and Morgan on their pork barrel plan do not like the square root area idea. They have been jokingly termed "square rooters" by other members and the scheme is rapidly being laughed out of existence.

Whitaker's Statement of Plan. Few of the members remember the arithmetic of their school days sufficiently to understand exactly what Whitaker's plan is. To explain it, Whitaker prepared the following statement: "The primary purpose of the Constitution and the road laws that are to be enacted in pursuance to it, I take it, is that we would not have a system of connected hard-surfaced roads. The lowest type of road within the meaning (or at least the intention) of the phrase (hard surface) is a gravel or a clean gravel road. The House Committee on Roads and Highways therefore adopted a resolution to the effect that the system of State roads should be of a type as good as that, or better, that is, that we would not have dirt roads. We also adopted a resolution that each county was entitled to and should have two cross-county roads or their equivalent."

"The committee then thought it wise to write into the law a basis of minimum appropriation of funds that would guarantee the construction of at least that type of roads in every county of the State. Automobile licenses would not serve as such a basis from the fact that many of the rougher counties owned but few automobiles (for the very reason that they do not have good roads). Assessment valuation for population would not answer, for the reason that both were very largely within the large cities, in which no part of the contemplated road system have been constructed. Neither is area a fair basis of apportionment, for under that large counties would get more than was necessary and the small counties would get less than was required. (For example, a county four times as large as another requires only twice as much road for two cross-county highways.) Therefore the committee adopted the mathematical logical basis of the square roots of the areas of the counties, based upon the simple mathematical theorem that corresponding dimensions of similar surfaces are to each other as the square roots of their respective areas."

Formula of Apportionment. "This presents a very simple problem that any schoolboy or girl will quickly solve. For instance, the sum of the square roots of all the counties of the State is 2770, which divided into $45,000,000, assuming that this sum is to be apportioned, equals $16,242. Now suppose the area of a county is 450 square miles. The square root of that is approximately 21.2. It only remains to multiply therefore, $16,242 by 21.2, which gives $344,330.40, the minimum apportionment to be used in that county."

"The resolution adopted by the committee provides that $55,000,000 (should) have $60,000,000 of State and $25,000,000 of Federal funds shall be apportioned on the above basis, and $40,000,000 shall be used by the highway department in the sections of the State that require better roads in addition to the apportionment above, as to the adopted by the committee, is the fairest and most equitable one of which I can conceive."

The "homesteading question in the territory is a big one and the conditions are far different in Hawaii than on the mainland. Here, highly cultivated agricultural lands are opened up to homesteaders. In the States undeveloped and at times almost barren lands are turned over to homesteaders. A comparison of these conditions will be of much value to Secretary Fall.

"The national parks of the United States are under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Interior. A small sum of money has been appropriated by Congress for the initial work on the Hawaii National Park. I believe that when Secretary Fall views the grandeur of the volcano of Kilauea he will realize that the money he has appropriated to make this one of the greatest, if not the greatest, national park in America."

By the Associated Press. MEXICO CITY, July 13.—Resolutions expressing a vote of thanks by the Mexican Senate to United States Senator La Follette for his action in opposing military operations against Mexico without the express authority of Congress, were voted down last night in the Senate when the resolutions were reconsidered. The Senate met in secret session and, according to El Universal, it was decided that the Senator's utterances against military aggression "were not inspired by regard for Mexico, but by political motives."

It was said by several Senators on Monday night that a message of felicitation was already under way to Senator La Follette. It now appears that the draft of a note to the Senator was signed by only 26 members of the upper House of the Mexican Congress, and had not been formally adopted by that body.

FALL TO STUDY SEVERAL PROBLEMS IN HAWAII

Retiring Governor Outlines Questions Secretary Will Probably Investigate on Trip With Denby.

By the Associated Press. HONOLULU, Hawaii, June 26.—

In the opinion of Charles J. McCarthy, the retiring Governor of the territory, matters of considerable importance to the welfare of the territory of Hawaii will be investigated by Secretary of the Interior Fall when he visits here this summer in company with Secretary of the Navy Denby.

The various angles of the rehabilitation project, by which it will be sought to place the native Hawaiians back on the land; the proposed sale of leases of sugar cane lands, betterment and expansion of the Hawaii National Park, and a general survey of educational conditions in the islands will be the principal work of the Secretary of the Interior while he is here, the Governor thinks.

"In the event that the rehabilitation bill, now before Congress, becomes law," says the Governor, "I believe that the first thing Secretary Fall will want to investigate is the nature of the land on the island of Molokai, upon which the first experiment in the working out of this scheme will be made. He will naturally want to get first-hand information regarding the class of land in question, the natural surroundings and the conditions under which the pioneers in this movement will labor. This first-hand information will be of great value to him, as it will enable him to make a more accurate estimate of the conditions under which the pioneers in this movement will labor. This first-hand information will be of great value to him, as it will enable him to make a more accurate estimate of the conditions under which the pioneers in this movement will labor."

"Of no less importance will be an investigation by Secretary Fall of the highly cultivated Waimanalo and Kokoona sugar cane lands. In the event that the rehabilitation bill becomes law, these lands will be sold at public auction. In this connection investigations will probably be made of homesteading."

"The homesteading question in the territory is a big one and the conditions are far different in Hawaii than on the mainland. Here, highly cultivated agricultural lands are opened up to homesteaders. In the States undeveloped and at times almost barren lands are turned over to homesteaders. A comparison of these conditions will be of much value to Secretary Fall."

"The national parks of the United States are under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Interior. A small sum of money has been appropriated by Congress for the initial work on the Hawaii National Park. I believe that when Secretary Fall views the grandeur of the volcano of Kilauea he will realize that the money he has appropriated to make this one of the greatest, if not the greatest, national park in America."

HUGHES SEEKING
TREATY SUBSTITUTE
FOR PRESIDENT

Secretary Trying to Find Alternative to Versailles Pact Which Would Not Cost U. S. Rights.

RESERVATIONS PLAN NOT REJECTED

Harding May Yet Resubmit Versailles Pact, Which Hughes Believes Would Best Safeguard Interests.

By DAVID LAWRENCE. A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—President Harding has asked Secretary Hughes to work out an alternative proposition to that of the Versailles treaty as a means of making peace with Germany. This doesn't mean that the President has rejected the idea of submitting the Versailles pact with reservations, but it does mean that Mr. Hughes feels the necessity of exhausting every legal resource that might accomplish peace with Germany and yet not offend the elements in the Senate, who believe the United States ought never to put its approval on any part of the agreement negotiated at Versailles by President Wilson.

Whether there is an alternative is as yet to be determined. Mr. Hughes is searching precedents and considering new devices of law. He himself believes America's rights will never be as well safeguarded as they will be under the Versailles pact, and would so hold if he could have his way, but he is endeavoring to do for Mr. Harding what any lawyer would do for his client—find a way to meet not only the external difficulties of any international character, but the internal troubles of a political nature which may impede ratification in the Senate.

Alternative of New Treaty. There is one alternative being considered which may or may not be effective. It is so novel that its effect cannot be predicted. Mr. Hughes never believes America's rights will never be as well safeguarded as they will be under the Versailles pact, and would so hold if he could have his way, but he is endeavoring to do for Mr. Harding what any lawyer would do for his client—find a way to meet not only the external difficulties of any international character, but the internal troubles of a political nature which may impede ratification in the Senate.

Reference to Tariff and Tax. Although the bonus bill was the President's major subject, he also urged action on tariff and tax legislation, for which the extra session was especially called. There was, he said, "confessed disappointment" that so little progress has been made on readjustment and reduction of the wartime taxes. He also urged early passage of the bill to reorganize war risk and vocational training services aiding former service men.

$410,000,000 APPROPRIATION FOR NAVY SIGNED BY PRESIDENT

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 13.—The annual naval appropriation bill was signed yesterday by President Harding. The bill carries approximately $410,000,000 and its signing ended the technical lapse of navy funds which had existed since July 1, when the President signed a bill appropriating $100,000,000 to the Navy. Under a resolution which accompanied the bill in the White House, the appropriations were made retroactive to July 1.

The bill carries the Borah amendment "authorizing and requesting" the President to call a three-Power naval disarmament conference. The bill represents a decrease of about $85,000,000 in the original Senate figures and an increase of about $100,000,000 that those first advocated by the House.

Views of Effect on Germany. Some of the legal experts believe that a separate treaty with Germany, even though its first paragraph might grant all the rights which Germany had previously given the United States in the Versailles treaty, would not bind Germany in the end, because having disposed of those rights in the first place to the allies and the United States as a group, it may be that the failure of the United States cannot withdraw from the principal allied and associated Powers without losing its rights as a member of that group.

The analogy most commonly heard here is that the allies and the United States constitute a company just like a corporation, to which certain rights to build street railways have been given by a city. Vote Likely on Penrose's Proposal of Recommittment to Finance Committee, After Harding's Appeal.

"WARNING AGAINST OVERBURDENING"

Treasury Conditions Such as to Make Deferment Necessary, President Declares in Address.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 13.—The soldier bonus bill, in the opinion of both Republican and Democratic leaders in the Senate, will probably be recommitted today to the Finance Committee "for further consideration."

The vote will be upon a motion of Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee, offered after President Harding's appeal in person to the Senate yesterday that action on the bill be deferred because of the condition of the Treasury. When Senator Penrose offered his motion for recommittal yesterday, opposition, principally on the part of Democratic Senators, prevented a vote, but it was said a vote probably would be reached today, with recommitment assured by a wide margin.

President Asks for Delay. The President in his request of the Senate for temporary postponement of consideration of the measure, urged attention to the condition of the treasury, saying that enactment of the legislation at this time would "greatly imperil the financial stability of our country."

Reiterating his recognition of the obligations to care for disabled and dependent war veterans, the President said "general compensation" should be entered upon at a time when it would be consistently possible. "Over-burdening of the Treasury now means positive disaster in the years immediately before us," the President declared. "Merely prudence calls out in warning."

Reference to Tariff and Tax. Although the bonus bill was the President's major subject, he also urged action on tariff and tax legislation, for which the extra session was especially called. There was, he said, "confessed disappointment" that so little progress has been made on readjustment and reduction of the wartime taxes. Mt. Everest Party Goes Through
Terrific Sandstorm at 17,000 Feet
Dressed as for a Gas Attack

Col. Bury's Latest Report of Progress of Expedition Indicates It Found North Approach Insuperable and Has Changed Its Direction.

AS the Mount Everest expedition has reached a point where existing maps have proved entirely inaccurate, according to Col. Howard Bury's narrative available today, the movements of the explorers from now on are likely to be rather obscure. Henceforth it will be possible to ascertain the triumph, failures and troubles of the expedition through Col. Bury's dispatches, but impossible to put one's finger on the map to tell exactly where it is.

That may seem strange when taking into consideration the fact that Mount Everest itself is only 70 miles from the densest population of India and only 100 miles from Darjeeling, which is the seat of the Bengal Government during the heated season and from which the unconquered peak is visible. The country surrounding Mount Everest is so challenging that no one has taken the trouble so far to explore or map it adequately. It is even more difficult to find the route to the mountain than to find the route to the North Pole. The expedition found that when it had got to within 40 miles of its goal at a point near Saar the northwestern approach appeared impregnable, and hence they pushed on slightly north of east in an endeavor to find a vulnerable spot. The route has taken them to Tinkri Dzong, which, according to the maps, is about 40 miles from Mount Everest and about 50 miles from Saar. It will be necessary to await further dispatches to ascertain how the expedition fared between Saar and the village from which Col. Bury wrote June 22.

The country between the point from which Col. Bury last reported and Mount Everest itself is presumed to be very rough, and doubtless the most difficult part of the journey lies ahead. It is assumed by students of the situation that the expedition will select some likely mountain pass, follow it as long as possible and then attempt to traverse the rocks and snow as best they can, which is slow, tedious, dangerous work.

By COL. HOWARD BURY. Leader of the Mount Everest Expedition. Special Cable Dispatch to the Post-Dispatch.

Copyrighted, and supplied, by THE MOUNT EVEREST EXPEDITION. TINKRI DZONG, June 23 (via Simla, July 12).—From Kampa Dzong we started into an unknown country. We left Kampa Dzong on June 8. Harold Raeburn, unfortunately, still is seedy and unable to pick up strength in these altitudes, so we decided the best thing for him was to send him down to Lachen, in Sikim, which, we hoped, would be looked after in the mission until he recovers strength, and then later he could rejoin us. Dr. A. F. R. Wollaston, Gyaltsen and Kazi accompanied him to Lachen. They will rejoin us as soon as they can catch up, probably not before we reach Tinkri Dzong.

The route from Kampa Dzong led across a great plain for 16 miles to Lingga, the first halt on our way, where we had quite a clear but distant view of Mount Everest. The south rose the snowy tops of the Himalayas, whose northern slopes, as a rule, are much gentler than the southern faces. The ridges (a small insect) here were very troublesome, surrounding us in clouds. We were very grateful when the wind started. We now are traveling down the valley of the Yaru, a tributary of the Tsangpo, which passes through Nepal to the east of Mount Everest. Clouds of insects harass explorers. From Lingga we marched another 13 miles in clouds of midgets across the plain sometimes sandy and sometimes marshy to Tinkri Dzong, a picturesque old fort on the banks of a large pond, which was swarming with bare-headed geese, and we had to be careful not to approach within five yards, not attempting to move. The inhabitants flocked around us, as they never had seen a European before, and were most interested. The Jongpen of the district rode out to meet us with a few followers and then escorted us to where our camp was to be. Already he had pitched several tents for us. He had tea, and changed, brewed from barley, ready. He was a most obliging and courteous host, presenting us afterward with 200 eggs and four sheep. Several prosperous villages and large monasteries are in the neighborhood. The valley is covered with barley fields, which, although grown in an altitude of more than 14,000 feet, ripen perfectly. There also is quite a good grove of willows belonging to the monastery. The following day we returned the Jongpen's call and were given tea and an excellent meal of macaroni seasoned with chile sauce. This is eaten with chopsticks, and was a somewhat difficult undertaking.

Native Solomon Problem. On June 11 we left Tinkri Dzong. There was the usual wrangling about loads before we started, as there were some 45 different families' supplies to be transported and the animals for transport only consisted of 86. Each person naturally wanted the lightest load. Eventually the head man took the garters from every family and mixed them all up. He then laid down the garters on various loads and the persons to whom the garters belonged had to carry the load on his animal without further argument. This happened every morning, and prevented us from making an early start.

The day's march led over the Tinkri pass, 17,000 feet high, but quite easy, with fine views to the east. We descended again into the broad valley of the Yaru, which here is carpeted with gorse bushes and covered with yellow flowers. Our camp was pitched at Chushar Nango, under a fine old ruined tower looking toward Nila pass, leading into Nepal. Our start the following morning was delayed by the wildness of the animals forming the transport and the plain soon was strewn with fallen loads, the yaks and bullocks careening madly in every direction. We had to ford the Yaru, which here is about 80 yards wide and three feet deep.

After crossing a marshy plain we arrived at the home of our friend, Phari Jongpen. His brother, acting as agent for him, rode out to meet us and escorted us to a grove of willows. It is a fine, solid stone building dominating all the smaller houses. Its walls are covered with gorse and juniper, giving it quite a festive appearance.

Huge Dinner of Tibetan Dainties. Tents were pitched for us in a grass paddock close to a grove of willows. Indoors a meal of Tibetan dainties with soup and chile sauce was provided. Together with tea, which was most welcome, the allowance of dumplings was 15 per head, and our digestions were unable to do full justice.

All maps of these parts now are most misleading, as they are totally at variance with the actual facts. It is a wide sandy valley running north and south. Here the Yaru joined the Arum and turned to flow south, cutting its way through the Himalayas. We forded the Yaru where it was 30 yards wide and about three and a half feet deep. On the arrival of our transport we determined to cross the sandy valley before dark. This our guide and drivers were most anxious to do as soon as possible, as it is a most dangerous valley, they said, and full of quicksands. At the time there was a violent sandstorm blowing. This, they said, would make crossing easier, as the quicksands would be covered with fresh sand and it would be possible to walk over them, so off we started.

Dressed as for Gas Attack. Everyone was dressed as though for a gas attack, with goggles over the eyes and mouth and nose covered with handkerchiefs and mufflers to repel the sand. We first wound our way through the big sand dunes, whence the sand was blowing in clouds. Under a large sand dune we found some of our coolies halted. They were quite lost and unable to find their way across in the sandstorm.

After leaving the sand dunes we had some wide stretches of wet sand to cross, over which dry sand from the dunes was being blown in long gale, close to the quicksands, with sand being whirled on to us and into the tents until everything and everyone was full of sand.

Just before dark a most beautiful and lofty peak appeared in the southwest. The drivers called it Luomouri (the Goddess of Turquoise) peak. We had many discussions as to what it was, but it was not until the morning we took its being carefully, and decided this must be Mount Everest we had come so far to find, and which now was only about miles away, and stood up quite by itself. It was separated from all other peaks, towering into the clear blue sky to an immense height and far surpassing all its neighbors in loftiness.

PORT SMITH, N. W. T. July 1.—Loaded to the waterline with a record crowd of oil seekers, prospectors and Northern trading men, the steamboat Northland Trader has left this port for the Mackenzie River Arctic oil fields, the first boat down the river since the going out of the ice on Great Slave Lake. With passengers bunched down on the boat decks, the fo'c'st'le head and atop the heavily laden snow, the vessel pulled out into the flooded Slave River with the announcement that she will reach her destination, Fort Norman, in four or five days. A large majority of the heavy consignment includes freight for the Imperial Oil Co.'s camps at Fort Norman and Windy Point on Great Slave Lake. Among it is a big gasoline storage tank for the producing plant which will be set up at Norman.

The first steamboat down the river will be welcomed by the men who have wintered "inside," as she will carry a huge consignment of mail, mostly magazines, parcels and circulars, which will be sent in during the winter months by the dog-team mail service. The local postoffice at Fort Smith has about 60 sacks full of such mail destined for Fort Resolution, Hay River, Fort Providence

PRICES ARE MIXED AT CLOSE OF BULL TRADE IN STOCKS

Market Largely Professional Affair and Drifting Off
in Early Session.

By Leased Wire From the New York
Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 13.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"No change in trading conditions was apparent on the Stock Exchange today, business continuing much as being chiefly on professional account. Automobile and steel shares were sold off at times and oil stocks and Mexican Petroleum in particular displayed strength. Taken as a whole, however, the market was a drifting one, and toward the close was fractionally lower, while the changes among industrials were for the most part small and were regularly distributed. Call money ruled at 6 per cent throughout.

"Sterling fell moving up to 13.65 cents in the late trading here yesterday, opened in London this morning at 13.65, by the close of the day however, it had gained 2 cents. On this side of the water, a similar movement occurred, but trading was light and the price was sensitive to relatively small transactions. German marks again showed strength, being as high as 1.25 1/2 cents and even after reaching 1 1/2 points still registering a net advance of 3 points.
Dispatches from Berlin meanwhile have furnished the explanation for yesterday's sudden movement. It appears that the Reichsbank announced the arrangement of a loan for 150,000,000 gold marks in Amsterdam and referred confidently to the Government's ability to meet its August reparation obligations. At the same time, reports were circulated regarding the possibility of a loan in America. Under the circumstances traders were quick to take advantage of the previous day's lower price for marks, while it is not improbable that German Government intended that its announcement should have a bracing effect on the market. Most of the other European exchanges followed sterling, francs being up 3 1/2 points at 78 1/2 cents.

"Wheat again advanced slightly on the strength of reports of crop damage in the Northwest and Europe.
September sold as high as $1.20 and at a late price of $1.28 showed a gain of 3 1/2 cents on the day. At the latter price, furthermore, this commodity had advanced over 11 cents above the low price of Monday. Cotton, on the other hand, was dull, October gaining 9 points at 12 1/2 cents.

"Steel Price Cut Ineffective."
"Last week's formal notice of lower steel prices has, according to the Iron Age, been followed by less rather than more buying, so that the unprecedented depression in the industry continued. It is hoped that the trade meanwhile is untroubled. The refunding of the railroad debt to the Government may result in good purchasing later on, and a better interest is displayed in pig iron. The more interesting development of the situation is, however, the good commercial demand for steel. The result has been made in the readjustment of wage rates. Extra pay for overtime has now disappeared from the industry and the principal independent plants are paying common labor 30 cents an hour, which is 15 per cent below the maximum reached last year and compares with 19 cents before the war. The Steel Corporation still pays 37 cents, but this is likely to be shaded before long, and 25 cents an hour is talked of as the final price to which the independent mills will come. Such a revision is an important factor in costs is the more valuable as holding forth prospects for attractive prices by the time a revival on the demand begins to show itself. That much lower production costs are essential to the export trade may readily be seen from the fact that on a recent piece of Argentine rail business the successful Bolivian mill quoted a price equivalent to $36 a ton including insurance and freight as against the best American bid of $42 1/2."

News and Comment
—SPECIAL DAILY—

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, July 13.—Today's stock market was pretty much a repetition of that of yesterday. Again the volume of business was small with professional traders completely in possession of the field. They were inclined to offer down stocks which seemed to be vulnerable to such operation. Shares of the electric companies were among those attacked, chiefly because they had heretofore been comparatively exempt.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

ST. LOUIS, July 13.—The steel market was not particularly active today, but there was a moderate volume of business. The market was not particularly active, but there was a moderate volume of business. The market was not particularly active, but there was a moderate volume of business.

THE BOND MARKET.

The bond market again today showed a moderate volume of business. The market was not particularly active, but there was a moderate volume of business. The market was not particularly active, but there was a moderate volume of business.

Lackawanna Steel.

Lackawanna Steel was the first of the steel companies to report for the second quarter and the results were quite in line with expectations. Plants have been shut down during the greater part of the period, almost entirely. The outcome of the first half year is a deficit after interest and depreciation of $1,432,000. This compares with a profit and loss surplus of $5,777,000. At the close of 1940 it was $23,812,000.

American Tobacco.

The sudden report in American Tobacco yesterday and this morning was accounted for by the declaration of a dividend of 4% per cent payable in the stock of Mengel Co. Inc., one of the treasury assets of the tobacco company. This applies to both classes of American Tobacco stock and is quite outside the regular cash dividend.

Woman Making Trip.
A number of women are making the trip into the north this year, including a few tourists whose knowledge of ships and boats is rather sketchy. One of the women amused the rivermen by demanding that her baggage be removed at once from the "basement" of the boat and put on the "roof."

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A Plea for Trees.
 To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A New York City eventually will become a treeless city unless it adopts a continuous policy of renewal and intensive maintenance is prompting the writer to sound a note of warning to the people of our own home town. There is no excuse for entire blocks in the residence section being without shade trees. The owners along those streets apparently do not realize the beneficial effect the presence of green trees has, not only on the minds of all, but also upon the property itself which they adorn. From the health standpoint a statement made by the New York Medical Society is in itself a strong argument for street trees. "Resolved, that one of the most effective means for mitigating the intense heat of the summer months and diminishing the death rate among children is the cultivation of an adequate number of trees in the streets."

Possibly his high mightiness, "the landlord," in these days of extraordinary prosperity to him, has forgotten or is careless about the fact that a tree before his house lends dignity to it, adds to its desirability as a home, nay, actually increases the value of the property.

Some years ago, when the Forestry Society came into being, one of the members, in discussing the shade tree proposition, gave the writer the hopeful impression that, wherever practical, shade trees would be planted along the thoroughfares. That has been some years ago, and while here and there some effort has been made along those lines, unity of action has been sorely lacking. The Municipal Department of Forestry could do a lot of good by doing propaganda work in getting up a booklet which teaches the value of trees and their care. The Audubon Society also could help the good work along by advocating the growing of trees in behalf of the song birds, which all bird lovers are trying to coax back into our city. The schools should teach the sacredness of tree life and awaken in the children a love for them, for with children enlisted properly in a cause the future is assured.

The writer would be pleased to hear from other sources similarly interested, through the columns of your splendid paper. Such discussions often arouse widespread interest and subsequent action.

Quotes Committee Report.

In answer to your bonus bill editorial of July 7, I beg to quote the following from the report of the Senate Finance Committee of the Sixty-sixth Congress as follows:

"The general assumption that the enactment of the bill into law will immediately load upon the backs of an already excessively tax burdened public an immense sum of money is NOT warranted."

The same report sums up—simply and unambiguously.

"Leaving out of the question every vestige of sentiment, every element of gratitude, and applying only the rigid rule of mathematical calculation, we cannot deny that, by allowing the man who fought for his country, who placed his life in pawn for his country, the increase in his compensation (please note—compensation, not bonus) provided by this bill, we are still giving him for his service, with all its risks and hardships, a compensation much below that which the common laborer in the United States received during his absence. Can a grateful country do less than this?"

AN EX. A. E. F. WHO CARRIES GOLD STRIPES ON BOTH SLEEVES.

"Protection."

While police are spending their time watching the bartender at Grand and Easton for one month to see if he is selling whisky, holding men at Springfield and Easton, one block away, rob man of payroll of $1163. Are the citizens paying the police to watch a soft drink parlor or protect the public? Some protection, I call it. A CITIZEN.

Plea for Bonus.

Why is it that the Secretary of the Treasury says that the Government is in no position to pay the soldiers bonus? Does he not think for a moment that the boys who have been wounded and are unable to get any kind of work can live on air?

When war was declared the men went without a whimper and did the best that they could to win and make the world safe. What thanks do they get? We loan money to England to pay a bonus to her soldiers, but what do our boys get?

When the boys started out the people said that they would never forget them, but just as soon as the war was finished they have turned their heads away from us and even give us the cold shoulder.

Is there not some way in which we can wake up Congress and have them pass a bill so that the soldiers can have what is coming to them? Just have them pass a bill to give the wounded boys enough to carry them for awhile at least. Let's get busy and help those who need the money.

WILLIAM H. BLUE.

POSTPONING THE BONUS.

The President's message urgently recommending the postponement of bonus legislation until the Government has had time and opportunity to put its finances on a stable basis seems to have been convincing and conclusive as far as the Senate is concerned. Senator Penrose's motion to recommit the bonus bill, with the report that there are ample votes to support this action, foreshadows a swift disposition of the measure.

The President is to be commended for his courage and candor in dealing with the bill. To be sure, this course was his clear path of duty, but considering the politics in the bill and the attitude of Congress towards it, there was great temptation to evade the straight issue. The President's argument was unanswerable. The Government's credit and the return of finances to stable conditions are at stake. Adequate provision for disabled soldiers is at stake. The revival of industry and commerce is at stake. Mr. Harding pointed out that the necessity of raising even a substantial percentage of the great sum which would be required to pay the bonus would be disastrous on Government finances and business.

In the light of the facts and the inevitable effect of the adoption of the bonus measure, as presented by the President, the most ardent supporter of the bonus bill must admit the wisdom of postponement. We cannot conceive of ex-service Americans insisting upon general bonuses at so great a danger to the whole country. We cannot conceive of ex-service men demanding general bonuses to the sacrifice of provision for those who need aid or to the sacrifice of general welfare. The consequences of raising a huge sum for bonuses would affect the entire country. It would cause more hardship to the great majority of recipients of the bonus money than could possibly be compensated for by a few hundred dollars in cash.

Of course, all the men who served in the war are the special wards of the Government. Those who are disabled must receive first aid. Those who suffer disability hereafter will receive pensions. Senator Smoot predicts general service pensions in a few years.

Temporarily, the menace of the bonus bill is out of the way. Congress is free now to turn its attention to economy and revision of taxation. These are the pressing subjects for legislation.

THE WORLD WANTS PEACE.

President Harding's call for a conference on disarmament and the Far Eastern problem has disclosed the thought and aspiration of the civilized peoples of the world.

Lloyd George's statement that the British Government would do all in its power to make the conference a success was greeted with a joyous acclaim in the House of Commons that matched the demonstration at the announcement of the armistice.

Brian's announcement of the invitation and of France's willingness to co-operate was received with enthusiasm in France. Premier Briand called President Harding's action a "noble initiative," and said that France would go into the conference without reservations and ready to accept military as well as naval limitation. "France," he said, "represents eagerly to the suggestion for a conference, from which we may hope will come the final peace of the world."

The thought and aspiration of men runs irresistible to peace and relief from the curse and burden of militarism. The world eagerly seeks to substitute the legal tribunal for the trial by battle in international dealings.

HOPE FOR A NEW VISION.

Seven thousand realtors from all over the nation, including 235 from St. Louis, as well as 200 from Canada and several delegates from Great Britain, are assembled this week in Chicago under the banner of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. For what real purpose we can only conjecture—and hope.

Not since the peace conference has there seemed to be so much power of property concentrated in one spot. To the city tenant it appears that a new council has met to divide up the world.

Has it? Have the real estate boards met to secure more firmly the takings of property owners? Or have they met to plan the loosening of the glacier of building stagnation and put into circulation more money at lesser margins; to encourage production and business rather than to mine the tenant and hoard the winnings taken from him?

When there are 7000 men assembled together, all leaders of a line of business in their respective communities, there must be some large ones among them. They will be addressed by big men from without the profession and with a public interest at heart, among them Secretary Hoover. Conditions are auspicious for the circulation of some broad and constructive ideas.

What benefits the public must benefit, in the long run, any traffic dependent on it or intimately related to it. There is good reason for hope that really dealers in a great convention will experience a vision which is often obscured from the horizon of the small office, with its field of profit.

NOT SOLUTION, BUT RELIEF.

The St. Louis rent relief bills have been unanimously endorsed by the nine members of the Municipal Corporations Committee of the Missouri House. The only reason given for the predicted failure of the measures on the floor of the house is the lack of interest on the part of Representatives from the interior counties which are not confronted with rent problems. Another obstacle appears to be the attitude erstwhile taken by the Governor that nothing short of new building would solve the rental problem.

The relief bills now before the House, however, do not represent any attempt to solve the rental problem. They are purely and simply relief measures to protect renters from unbridled oppression. They afford the Circuit Court a basis on which to determine fair rental, but do not confer authority to fix rent. They furnish the tenant with certain legal recourses of delay which would protect him from immediate eviction while protesting exorbitant advances in rent. In case of an adverse decision the tenant would not be obliged to pay double rent covering the period in arrears. That new building may not be discouraged it is provided that neither bill shall apply to buildings in course of construction Jan. 1, 1921, or started since that time.

The bills will not stimulate new buildings—no, only the revival of normal competition in the building material trade can do that—but justice and a fair deal for the tenant are their own justification.

CHILDREN AND MALNUTRITION.

It is but a short time since we were reading a clinical report setting forth that the little children of the rich were suffering to a greater extent from malnutrition than the little children of the poor. Now comes the finding of a nutritional clinic of the St. Louis Chapter of the Red Cross showing that in one of our industrial districts 87 per cent of a group of children examined were 16 per cent under weight, 6 per cent were slightly under weight and only 7 per cent normal.

It would be easy, were it not for the former report, to read into the latter exhibit a condition of poverty and emaciation due to the inability of providers to buy sufficient food for their children. But evidence so far at hand seems to point the finger of blame toward ignorance of proper diet, as well as ignorance in other requirements of the care of infants. Overfeeding, underfeeding and irregular feeding are alike repugnant to the child organism, which, to function normally, must have intelligent feeding.

A HAPPY COINCIDENCE

It is a happy coincidence when the desires and predictions of politicians and the results of an Efficiency Board examination focus as they do in respect to the wardenship of the city jail.

Ever since it became known that a vacancy was to be created the politicians have been saying that Dick Hutton ought to have the job, because Dick is a good fellow and a useful man in the Seventh Ward and no less a dignitary than the committeeman of the ward made bold to say that Dick would get it.

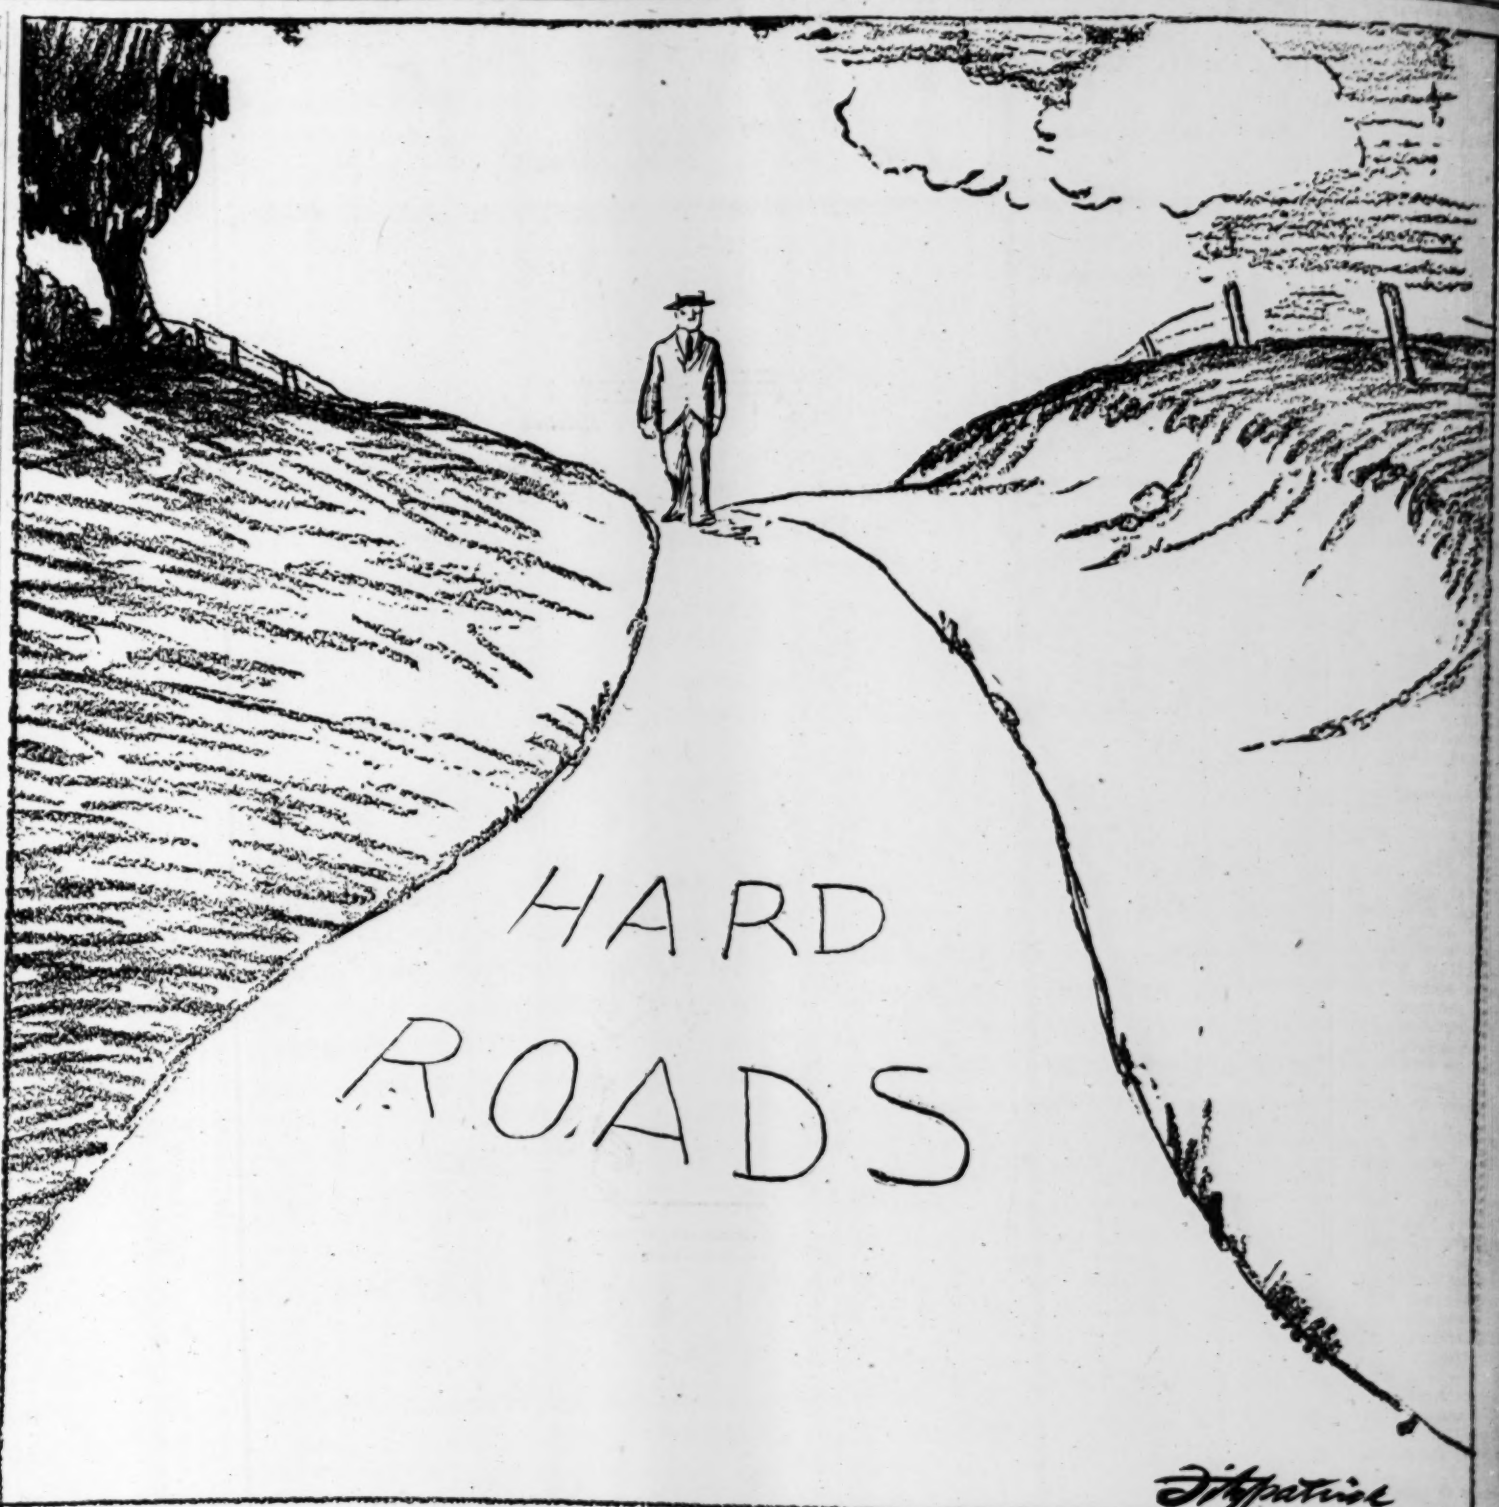

But there is an Efficiency Board which is intended to put a check upon the proclivity of department heads for basing appointments on political fitness. So an examination had to be held. And one was held. Hutton finished first. If he had finished second or third he could have been appointed, under the rule which enables a choice from among the first three, but as he finished first he can be appointed without incurring the criticism that a favor has been shown him in keeping with the politicians' predictions.

It sometimes happens that the results of an examination are painfully at variance with the desires and predictions of politicians, which creates an embarrassing situation. Hutton is to be congratulated on his success in passing the examination and the politicians are to be congratulated on the consummation of their desires and the fulfillment of their predictions and the public is to be congratulated on the fact that the prospective warden has qualifications for the job.

PANETELA.

YES, Luella,
 Mr. Harding
 Asks disarmament
 At last,
 One could fancy
 From the clamor
 That the die
 Were truly cast
 With what all
 The other powers
 Shouting bazaar
 And hooray,
 One could fairly
 Hail the dawning
 Of a new
 And better day

All the same,
 My little girlie,
 'Tis as yet
 A rosy dream;
 In the world
 Of altruism Things are never
 What they seem.
 While we may
 Recent our folly,
 Since the cost
 Has made us poor,
 Let it not
 Be still forgotten
 What has happened
 Here before.

Looking backward
 Just a little
 In the setting
 Dust of strife,
 Lo, we see
 The League of Nations
 Coming hopefully
 To life!
 Dream of patient
 Human nature
 Through the horrors
 Of the years,
 Someone said
 The world had hailed it
 Until God
 Had heard our cheers.

Anyway,
 The thing was fashioned,
 And the heart
 Of hope was high;
 Bands of glad,
 Rejoicing angels
 Seemed to hover
 In the sky.
 Cannon went
 To almost nothing.
 Powder was
 A cent a ton,
 And the whole
 Excited planet
 Cried "Thank God,
 The thing is done!"

What occurred,
 My sweet Luella?
 Well, for one thing
 We stayed out
 Some fool little Things alarmed us,
 And we squarely
 Faced about.
 So that when
 We hear the plaudits Roused by
 Mr. Harding's call,
 Let us not Forget that someone
 Like ourselves
 Can spoil it all.

It seems that the best way to save ourselves embarrassment is not to ask the Oregon Government questions.

YOU'VE MET THESE.

From girls without ankles who insist upon proving they have none, from girls who can smile from ear to ear, from girls who close their eyes when dancing, from business men who wear white trousers and blue coats at work, from men who wear shoes that do not fit, from women who do not realize that no man is modest, from that wistful look we sometimes get the first time we take her to the movie, from the girl whose phone is always busy, from girls who say, "Say, Mayme, me 'n my boy fren' is sure gonna step out tonight"—Oh, good Lord, deliver me.

ALELL.

If Gen. Smuts comes to the United States on Armistice day to attend the disarmament conference we should induce him to make a tour of the country and talk to us. He is wholly outside of political prejudices, and what he tells us may therefore do us good. He has had to perform precisely this office for England and Ireland, and he would no doubt be glad to set us right. We have had for almost three years the greatest opportunity any country has had in history, and we have followed a lot of tin gods like Senator Reed. We are the greatest anachronism of all time, and if the world finally has to come over here and round us up in the work of civilization, as it is planning to do in the disarmament conference, peace will indeed have her victories no less renowned than war. Mr. Harding may or may not know the significance of his invitation. He had to do something. The demand that we assume our leadership in a world yearning for peace and otherwise leaderless became so insistent that he could no longer ignore it.

A school teacher in the west end of Cincinnati received the following note from the mother of one of her pupils this spring:

"Teacher: I here that mattle is bad in her grammar and has trouble with it. I do not desire that mattle shall ingage in grammar. I prefer her to ingage in more useful studies. I can learn her to speak and write proper myself. I have been through two grammars and I can't say that they ever done me any good. I prefer mattle to ingage in drawing or vokal music on the piano."

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

FUTURE IMMIGRATION.

FRANCES KELLOR in North American Review.

THE passage of the law, operative for a period of a little more than one year, which limits immigration to 3 per cent of the number recorded under the 1910 census, marks a new era in immigration legislation. Its significance lies less in the fact that it provides against an emergency created by numbers than that it ignores the traditional conception of the United States as an asylum for the oppressed and persecuted peoples of the world. . . . The country, by this law, places immigration on a wholly economic basis and makes its affairs international in their future practical operation. This modification of American tradition and law is the culmination of profound changes which have been taking place almost unnoted in our American life. These changes have altered our conception of our country to the extent that we now believe it to be economically independent of immigration in the sense that industries and production can proceed unhampered without it. It is a question now of the pace, rather than of the necessity. The question of a labor supply to develop industry has thus become subsidiary to the larger economic questions of international commerce and finance from which immigration seems likely to be inseparable in the future. This tendency is increased by the fact that the United States has become an emigration as well as an immigration country. Once the flow of immigration is established on fairly even terms in both directions, economic law alone will prevail, modified only in such ways as the political and social concepts may determine.

THE NEW WOMAN.

From the Boston Globe.

THE girl who escaped from the hoop-skirt, the maiden who insisted on squeezing out of a tight bodice, the Turkish woman who uncovered her face, the Chinese girl who a few years back fought to grow up with her feet comfortably unbound, and the girl who is now earning her own pocket money, and more—all are looking down toward Hartford, Conn. Executives of a large company in the insurance city have just issued a warning to girls who choose to hob their hair. "Although a young woman may have the best of references and be eminently qualified for the position," says a business man, "her bobbed hair is against her." Men at one time wore their hair long; at other times they wore wigs. The prevailing style seems to be copied from the prize ring, but no office has issued orders for a change. The flurry for bobbed hair among girls may be a fad; it may be something more; but the business men of Hartford will probably discover that in either case the woman of today decides these things for herself.

A TRIBUTE TO THE NEWSBOYS.

From the Hartford Times.

ONE of the great New York newspapers pays an astonishing tribute to the young merchants who sell its wares upon the streets. This newspaper, like practically every other, printed an "extra" after Saturday's prize fight. When the papers arrived at Times Square the young men whose business it was to sell them to the newsboys, taking their cash in return, found themselves overwhelmed by an eager flock of youngsters who grabbed the papers as fast as he could open the bundles and raced away to dispose of them without going through the usual formality of paying for their stock. Many a boy could have kept all the money he received as profit and neglected to pay for his papers, but, so the paper declares, as soon as the storm of selling was over the boy returned to the neighborhood and settled, until the cash turned in was exactly what it should have been for the number of papers sent out from the office of publication. That was only ordinary honesty, it is true, but a kind of honesty met with seldom enough to be uncommon. Yet it would be expected by those who are familiar with newsboys. The newsboy doesn't expect to be cheated and he certainly doesn't intend to cheat anybody. More power to him.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

THE BLIND COP.

Funny guy, Policeman Casey, he can see straight through a wall. An' can spot a prowlin' sneak-thief watchin' out to make a haul. He can look right round the corner in the middle of the night. And get on the job like lightnin' when a rough neck starts a fight. He seems always to be watchin' when there's trouble anywhere. But he never sees us bathin' in the fountain on the square.

Mix-ups do not last a minute. If they're started on our street. When them tough nuts want a riot, they get off o' Casey's beat. We don't dawdle to swipe an orange off a push cart any more. Or get rid o' bogus quarters in the blind Eytallan's store. Casey'd grab us in a minute if we pinched a chunk o' coal. But he never sees us strippin' to git in our swimmin' hole.

When the streets is like an oven in a cellar bakin' shop. An' a feller keeps on wittin' till he thinks he's goin' to flop. We sneak down behind the statues, peel our rags off to the skin. Wait until there's no one lookin', but the sparrows, and git in. Casey always passes by us half a dozen times a day. But he's lookin' out for trouble that might start across the way.

He's a tough old bird, is Casey; when a guy gets in a scrap He is loaded in the wagon with an awful messy map. Even kids will holler murder when he grabs 'em by the hair. After they've been rollin' ivories underneath the schoolhouse stair. Nuthin' that his job is stoppin' ever gits away from him. But he doesn't ever see us when we strip to take a swim.
